HARDING WANTS UNITED ACTION ON SCHOOL BILL

Establishment of National Education Department Stirs Up Discussion.

RELIGION IS BIG FACTOR

Position of Catholic Church With Reference to Schools Is Misunderstood.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921

Washington.—President-elect Harding has asked his friends in the senate and the house who are interested in establishing either a department of public welfare or a department of education to get together and harmonize their views if possible in a single proposal that he can support.

The inside story of the conflicting interests and influences that have come to the front in connection with the new department extends back into the campaign and involves an unfortunate misunderstanding as to the true position of the Catholic church which has lately been the subject of a lively discussion in the Catholic press.

The whole thing revolves about the establishment of a federal institution to promote and organize the educational facilities of the United States so as to cut down the high percentage of illiteracy, to Americanize foreigners, promote physical education, including health and sanitation, and the training of teachers.

Gibbons Favors Plan

During the last campaign, several proposals were made for a department of social welfare or a department of public welfare on the theory that opposition from the Catholic elements would thereby be lessened and on the theory that a bureau of education could be put into the department of welfare. But this the league of women voters and other women's organizations have declined to support and the argument is being made that the politicians who are always fearful of religious prejudices among their constituents have totally exaggerated the position of the Catholics who while anxious to have no legislation enacted which would interfere in the slightest with their control over parochial schools are nevertheless represented as being unwilling to appear before the public as the foes of any educational project that has for its object the betterment of all Americans without respect to race or religion. Indeed, Cardinal Gibbons himself recently wrote a letter to a friend which took the position that it would be unfortunate indeed if the impression became widespread that the Catholic church is opposed to the promotion of education by the federal government.

The real trouble arises because of the variety of proposals and the fact that the details of the Smith-Towner bill which represents the wish of the educators of the country who are back of the measure as well as the League of Women's voters have not been widely explained. In the first place, absolutely no control over courses of study or management of schools is given in the bill. All appropriations are distributed by the several states of the Union so that whatever may be the relationship existing in each state between public and parochial schools it will be maintained. Furthermore the purpose of the department of education would be to organize facilities and enroll teachers and provide organizations of which the states can take advantage. The national department of education will be a clearing house of information for state boards of education and will at the same time stimulate educational processes in the states for the truth is some states of the Union have been woefully lacking in teachers and facilities and without federal aid they would continue to permit illiteracy and poor schools.

Nevertheless the states will be obliged to contribute dollar for dollar

HARDING OPPOSES
BIG PEACE ARMY

Compulsory Military Service Does Not Appeal to President-Elect.

Marion, Ohio.—All plans for a large standing army or compulsory military service in peace time will be vetoed by President-elect Harding, according to those here who profess to know his intimate views on these subjects today.

He is taking this position in the face of strong pressure in favor of greater military preparedness.

As a substitute Harding is considering proposing a system of voluntary military training in which educational features would be conspicuous.

It was to consider need toward working out this policy that Harding summoned Chairman Julius Kahn, California, of the house military affairs committee, to Marion today.

Kahn, a republican, is a strong preparedness advocate.

Material obtained from Kahn will be utilized by Harding in his inaugural address and in shaping the general program of military legislation which will be recommended to congress by the new president.

Sinn Fein Leaders Are Getting Ready To Accept British Terms For Peace

START NATIONAL HUNT FOR LEGLESS MAGAZINE OWNER

Cripple Is Last Seen When He Is Carried Out of Chicago Hotel.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—A national hunt was on today for Jacques Villard, 35, cripple and owner of "The New Age," a magazine, and of a correspondence school in St. Louis.

Villard, who is legless, disappeared here Christmas night. He was last seen being carried from a hotel by a tall, blonde man, believed to be either a Swede or a Pole.

According to police, Villard came here Dec. 10 in search of an assistant editor. He interviewed numerous Poles as he contemplated a course in Americanization for Polish people. Failing to obtain the man he wanted, he sent Mrs. Villard back to St. Louis and planned to go on to New York. Villard was said to have had $2,000 in cash and $4,000 in jewelry on him when he last was seen.

Because of his crippled condition, Villard ordinarily hired bellboys to carry him to the elevator and to his wheel chair.

On the day he left the hotel, the tall blonde man paid his bill and carried Villard from the hotel to an automobile.

Police have been unable to trace the automobile.

Villard lost one leg through tuberculosis of the bone and the other becoming infected, was amputated.

Villard's disappearance was discovered when Mrs. Villard wired him to come home. When her wire was returned, she instituted an inquiry.

Moderates Among Sinn Feiners Believe Irish Problem is Nearing Settlement, While Radicals are Demanding a Fight to Finish With Great Britain

By CHARLES M. McCANN
Copyright 1921 by the United Press

Dublin.—Evidence of a growing inclination to achieve peace with Great Britain were found among Irish leaders here today.

A "left wing" of the Sinn Feiners is demanding a fight to the finish. Other factions are beginning to realize that the government can meet terror with terror and with the resources of an empire crush the humanly and materially impoverished island.

Few signs of mutual trust can be discerned. Sinn Feiners believe Great Britain wants to crush the nationalist spirit once and for all. British officials are demanding that only Irish leaders of guaranteed power shall negotiate with them.

JAPAN FEARS U. S. NAVAL STRENGTH

Even Secretary Daniels Fails to Allay Suspicions of Orientals.

By United Press Leased Wire.
London.—Japan cannot permit another nation's navy to surpass hers, even when the increases are proposed by so "ardent a pacifist and generally religious man as Secretary Daniels," Ambassador Hayashi declared in an interview here today.

The ambassador said Daniels believes firmly in the moral infallibility of the United States.

"He has set out to construct a fleet so strong it will reduce all others to a mere cipher to enable America to dictate her conception of right to others," he declared.

"The most righteous sometimes lapse. None of us is willing to concede a predominance of virtue in any one state. Japan as a sea power cannot consent to be left to the mercy of any other navy."

Because of this, he said, half of Japan's income is devoted to military and naval affairs. War, the ambassador said, is folly. To avoid difficulty, he suggested a Japanese-American agreement.

Peace talk from the two camps is contradictory. Representatives of both sides want it; they want it on their own terms.

Government representatives declare they are hopeful of a quick peace; Sinn Feiners are equally confident it will come only when the Irish government has been recognized.

Each side attacks the statements of the other as not sincere.

"Sinn Fein is on the run," a Dublin castle official told me today. He declared all the Sinn Fein talk of fighting to the finish should be discounted, that Sinn Fein was fighting now to obtain the best terms possible.

A Sinn Fein official, found sitting in the midst of a mass of papers dumped from a filing cabinet in the last raid of the military, declared the government's declarations were untrue. Sinn Fein is winning, he declared, unfettered determined to see it through to a finish.

Agreement Coming

Despite these contradictory statements, a feeling prevails that an agreement is coming but that it still is far from definite shape.

Moderates, of which it is now believed De Valera is the chief representative, are of the opinion that the British eventually will accept the Irish parliament as the negotiating body. They base the belief on the fact that the parliament is a regularly elected organization. The parliament claims to be the Irish government. The moderates hope that Britain will agree to negotiations on the grounds that members of parliament were elected to represent the Irish.

They see, then, a meeting in which each side ignores the claims of the other while admitting they can sign a peace.

FORD NEWBERRY HEARING ENDS IN HIGH COURT

Hughes Contends U. S. Corrupt Practice Law Is Unconstitutional.

FORD GAINS MORE VOTES

Recount Fails to Reveal Fraud But Clerical Errors Help Ford's Case.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Final arguments of the appeal of Senator Truman H. Newberry and sixteen others from conviction on charges of illegal expenditures in the Michigan senatorial campaign of 1918, were heard in the supreme court today. It was expected that the case would be taken under advisement by the court late today but a decision is not expected for a month.

Charles E. Hughes, former supreme court justice, made the opening argument for Newberry, contending in the main that the federal corrupt practices act, under which the defendants were convicted, is unconstitutional.

Opposing this contention, Solicitor General Frierson and Frank C. Daley, Indianapolis, who prosecuted the case in the lower courts, argued that the constitution in making provision for the election of congressmen gave congress the power to control these elections and that such power was not one exclusively held by the states.

The recount in the Ford-Newberry senatorial contest has disclosed no evidence of fraud thus far, Senator Spencer, Missouri, chairman of the subcommittee, making the recount, said today.

Clerical errors accounted for the changes in the vote so far noted, he said.

A net gain of 276 votes for Ford over Newberry was shown today in the recount to date of votes.

The committee announced that in twelve precincts the official returns gave Ford 13,048 and Newberry 13,276; the recount gave Ford 13,059 and Newberry 17,993, a loss of seven for Ford and loss of 233 for Newberry, making Ford's net gain 276.

YOUNG PUBLISHER DIES IN SAN DIEGO

By United Press Leased Wire
San Diego, Cal.—James G. Scripps, newspaper publisher, died at his home at Miramar, near here, at 1:30 this morning after an illness of several weeks.

Scripps was 34 years of age. His death resulted from complications which followed an attack of influenza about a month ago.

For twelve years he has been the managing director of the Scripps newspapers, the Newspaper Enterprise association and allied news organizations, being one of the youngest newspaper publishers in the United States.

Scripps was born in West Chester, a suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio. He came to San Diego with his parents when six years old and has resided here since that time.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scripps, and his brother, Robert P. Scripps. Another brother, John P. Scripps, died here several years ago.

NO DECREASE IN PRICE OF SMOKES FOR TWO YEARS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—There will be no decrease in the retail price of smoking tobacco for two years despite the big drop in the price paid the planter for his crop, in the opinion of officials of the American Tobacco company and the United States Cigar Stores here today.

With tobacco country of America in a panic over conditions that have driven out in half the prices paid for tobacco, a vice-president of the American Tobacco company stated this would not bring down retail prices now because these reductions would not affect the finished product for two years.

Tobacco purchased from planters will not reach the consumer for two years because it takes that long to cure it.

W. T. Posey, a vice-president of the United Cigar Stores, said retailers were anxious to see prices come down but realized it could not be done immediately.

REAL PROGRAM IS HOPE OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY

BY J. F. BEAMAN
(Copyright 1920 by United Press)
Columbus, Ohio.—The ailing democratic party must prove its right to future life through a constructive program, "which it will be glad if the republicans will steal and make their own," George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, declared here in a Jackson Day announcement of plans for the next few years.

"It will never do for us to be merely a party of opposition," White said. "An opposition which satisfies its conscience by saying 'no' when a vote is taken does not help the country."

The mooted question of democratic leadership and the size of the normal democratic vote will be answered through following a policy of "statesmanship," White said.

"We ought to draw the line on every possible occasion between the cautious conservatism, creative element in the country, and the stand pat, hold-fast, non-moving element," the democratic chairman said.

"Have we a policy as to labor and capital or one as to internal improvements—water, land, reclamation, railroads, or one as to finances and taxes; or one as to better methods of obtaining the necessities of life—food, clothing, trade, its extension and protection; or one as to the Americanization of our people of foreign birth and the education of our illiterate; or one as to the conservation of child life in our country; or one as to the reorganization of the government departments which universally is regarded as essential—have we a definite policy as to these among other matters for which those who represent the party in congress will stand?"

"All these problems are immediate and real. If the democratic party is entitled to life, it must be because of its attitude and policy with relation to them."

"A successful democracy rather than the successful democracy—that note strongly struck will create its own following and bring whatever leadership is needed for statesmanship is the best policy."

ARGENTINA WILL SUFFER IF TARIFF BILL IS PASSED

South Americans Fear Fordney Measure Will Cause Considerable Suffering.

By United Press Leased Wire
Buenos Aires.—Senator Boles Penrose's withdrawal of opposition to the emergency tariff bill before the United States congress caused much gloomy comment here today.

Both Argentine and United States business men here predicted passage of the bill would result in a tariff war between the two countries.

Business conditions are such as to make both groups view the situation as grave. Several large importing houses were reported on the verge of failure and others who are in shape to weather a depression declared they see no way of continuing profitable business between the two countries under a high tariff.

Although the bill does not single out countries, it was declared it will operate particularly against Argentina, an exporter of farm products.

Europe, it was pointed out, is unable to become a heavy buyer because of lack of funds. The United States then is the only nation left to relieve the economic situation here and assist in bringing Argentina money to parity and make possible a resumption of normal commerce.

European agents here are delighted at the prospect of the enactment of the bill since it would force Argentina to ship her products to Europe on a "goods for goods" basis instead of "goods for money."

Secretary of State Colby's assertion that the president will veto the bill was greeted joyously.

ERRING PREACHER IS UNDER ARREST

By United Press Leased Wire
Paterson, N. J.—A warrant charging the Rev. Cornelius C. Densel, former pastor of the First Netherlands church, Paterson, with violation of the Mann act, was issued here today by Joseph A. Delaney, U. S. commissioner.

"It is obvious that it would benefit the farmers," Swenson said, "or they would not be fighting for them."

"An advance of 25 cents in the price of wheat should not materially affect the American consumer, however. The price of flour and bread has not declined in proportion to the decline in wheat prices, and steps should be taken to see that a protective tariff does not react adversely on the American buying public."

Brokers, grain men and other bankers declined to discuss the probability of passage of the Fordney measure as a result of the change in attitude taken by Senator Penrose, which, it is believed, may result in passage of the measure.

PENROSE NEAR END OF ROPE, FOES DECLARE

Pennsylvania Senator's Backdown on Tariff Fight Is Beginning of End.

ENDS UNEMPLOYMENT

Western Business Men Believe High Tariff Will Revive Business.

By L. C. Martin

Washington.—Political enemies and critics of Senator Boies Penrose today were busy spreading the word that Penrose's change of front from tariff to emergency tariff bill marked the beginning of the end for him as a dominant power in Pennsylvania and national politics.

Aside from his illness, which has robbed Penrose of his former stamina, his foes declared nothing had so contributed to his passing as the abandonment of his fight on the tariff embargo bill.

They were led to magnify his action into this importance by reason of the emphasis he placed on his opposition to this measure in state meetings here and elsewhere when it first came up and again when it was sent to the senate.

His inability to "handle the situation" was borne in on Penrose, it was declared, by the obstinate attitude of his republican colleagues on the committee who are said to have told him plainly that they would risk a division in party ranks on the very eve of the new administration in order to get the bill passed. Penrose, his friends said today, realized that his physical condition would not allow him to make a fight for his position and he backed down rather than be defeated.

The senator's friends failed to attach political importance to the incident and said his enemies were using it for propaganda purposes, both in Pennsylvania and Washington. They angrily criticized such tactics and said Penrose's foes could "go as far as they liked" if they thought it would do them any good.

Will Revive Business

Chicago.—Solution of the unemployment problem and stabilization of prices will be the result of a speedy enactment of the emergency agricultural tariff law, in the opinion of middle western financiers and business men, discussing Senator Penrose's sudden change in deciding to urge its passage.

Penrose earlier had announced he would oppose a tariff bill at the present session of congress.

Businessmen believe the switch in Penrose's plan is due to pressure brought to bear in behalf of efforts to provide for the unemployment and halt the price declines.

"It will mean that cheap foreign made goods will be kept out of this country," said George M. Reynolds, of the Continental and Commercial bank, one of the biggest financial institutions in the west.

"It will mean also that our factories will be kept employed and that values will be stabilized."

According to John M. Glenn, president of the Illinois Treasurers' association, Penrose's decision to support a tariff law at this session of congress is caused by pressure from farmers and the dying industry.

"The farmer wants to be protected from importation of Canadian wheat and thus, of course, would mean he would get higher prices for his grain," said Glenn.

D'Annunzio Claims Victory Because He Was Not Defeated Earlier.

By United Press. Rome.—Defeated but unawed, D'Annunzio's legionnaires marched in final review before their chief, Gabriele D'Annunzio, while Italy's soldiers looked on.

The review was held after the 1500 men had buried 19 of their fellows, killed when the regulars advanced on the city.

D'Annunzio himself took part in the funeral services, advancing uncovered to the graves when a priest had completed the religious ceremonies.

"Our hatred disappears in the presence of death," the poet said.

"My legionnaires, let us take a oath for a grander fight for peace worthy of free men. Kneel."

D'Annunzio and his staff knelt while he prayed aloud.

The former chief then ridiculed the regular troops in a final manifesto, the last of the many with which he deluged the population.

"It is a military fact," he declared, "that the regular troops should have entered Fiume December 24. Not only did they not succeed in that but they

BADGER CROPS IN 1920 WERE NOT AS VALUABLE AS 1919

Last Year's Crop Were Not as Valuable as Either of Last Two Years.

Madison.—The value of Wisconsin crops in 1920 amounted to $228,427,600, was 19 per cent less than the 1919 value and 18 per cent lower than in 1918, although 147 per cent above the 1909 value, according to the annual review of crop production made by Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin co-operating crop reporting service.

Twenty seven representative crops in 1919 were valued at $399,606,000, in 1918 at $380,630,000, and in 1909 at $130,591,000.

A general decrease in the area of cultivated crops was recorded in the southern part of the state which was overcome by the increased use of northern land, the report said. The total area of land under cultivation amounted to 9,109,000 acres, an increase of 57,000 acres over the total of 9,052,000 in 1919. It was said that the decreased acreage in the southern section of the state was due to the reverting to pasture of land which was in crops because of wartime stimulus.

Wheat Below Normal

The 1920 crop year was featured by an above average production of all important Wisconsin crops and by an unusually large acreage planted to all "cash" crops, the report declared. Weather conditions were said to have

300 MAIMED VETS IN COMEBACK CLUB

Wounded Men Are Making Determined Effort to Fight Own Battles in World.

By Zoe Beckley
Special to Post-Crescent

New York.—"Maw" Nulsen is a very little woman with a very large heart who is mothering 300 disabled war veterans plugging at Columbia University to re-educate themselves.

The card on her door at 410 W. 118th street reads: "Mrs. Elsie Nulsen, but youthful as she is, no one call her anything but 'Maw'—and she likes it."

From the day her boy Marvin came back from overseas, with a shattered knee, Mrs. Nulsen has mothered every crippled soldier who needed care.

She unlatched the door to her apartment and it has been open ever since to every comeback who wants an arm chair, a cigarette, a cup of tea, a button sewed on—or just a friendly word and the feel of a homey atmosphere.

Comebacks Gather

Members of Columbia University's Comeback Club gather at "Maw" Nulsen's daily. Everyone of these boys suffers a permanent disability—from a lost leg to progressive blindness—but they ask nothing more than a fair chance to make their way on merit and capability.

I found these Douglas Hall, the Comeback Club's president, who is specializing in advertising.

He was a newspaper man before he went across and got mixed up with shrapnel and mustard gas. Now he has to start over again.

"One of the objects of the Comeback Club," said Hall, "is to keep the boys from sentimentalizing over themselves. Or thinking the world owes them a living without their own efforts."

"We only ask people to bear in mind that although the war is over, we are still fighting a battle against heavy odds, and need encouragement and an opportunity."

Need Their Own Home

One of the encouragements the Comebacks need, "Maw" Nulsen says, is a home of their own.

"They've already raised $5,000, bless their hearts," says she, "by giving theatricals and dances and other shows. But every house that is big enough for their needs seems to be priced around $40,000."

"I wish I knew," wistfully, "how to soften some property owner's heart to the point of letting the boys start with their $5,000, and paying the rest as they can."

The government allows each man $100 a month for maintenance. In addition he is instructed free at the university in whatever line he best can follow.

The 300 Comebacks are scattered throughout the varied classes. And the fact that in nearly a year and a half only one has been dropped proves they are good workers, good students.

FLAMES THREATEN "PILLAR OF FIRE"

Love and Hate Entered in Legal Suits Against Strange Cult.

Special to Post-Crescent
Denver, Col.—The flames of love and hate threaten the structure of the "Pillar of Fire" cult.

Two storms have broken out.

One has resulted in a $100,000 suit by Rev. Thomas A. Goode against leaders of the sect. Goode charges alienation of his wife's affections and alleges:

That Alma White, founder of the cult, has obtained considerable property by requiring members to turn over their possessions to her;

That these members work for her for a bare pittance;

That she interferes between husbands and wives;

That she frowns on marriages of single members of the cult.

Besides Alma White, Goode names as defendants her brother, Charles Bridwell; her son, Ray E. White; and her cousin, Emily Bridwell.

They deny all the charges.

Recently Charles Bridwell's daughter, Ruth, married George Hughes. The couple were arrested on complaint of the bride's mother, who charged that Hughes had kidnapped the girl. The mother took the girl home with her.

Hughes obtained a writ of habeas corpus and a detective got his wife for him. She remained with her husband only a short time, then returned to her mother.

While Hughes is seeking other legal measures to regain his wife, members of the cult are praying to keep her with them.

A PARAMOUNT ARTCRAFT PICTURE

Awaiting the stroke of Fate . . . A craven father, shrinking from the death he had earned of the secret Carbonari. A young adventurer, bound to a foe who had won the duellist's "right" to kill. The old man's daughter, sold to the cad who claimed the life of the man she loved. . . . Around them all — the shadow of the White Circle! What was the end?

46 STATES TO ACT ON CIGARET BILLS

Non-Smokers' Protection League Leads Nation-Wide Fight on "Pills."

Special to Post-Crescent
New York.—The battle over Lady Nicotine is on in earnest!

Thirty-six states have anti-cigarette bills before their Legislatures.

"Ban smoking!" queries Sonia, New York's famous cigar girl. "Puff! Puff!" And she illustrates her expression with a puff, puff, on one of her own cigarettes. Sonia's smoke shop, in Greenwich Village, is the mecca for thousands of visitors every year.

"Make the whole country quit smoking? It can't be done!" scoffs Sonia.

On the well-known other hand, tobacco is doomed, according to Dr. Charles G. Pease, of New York, organizer of the Non-Smokers Protection League of America, and author of many pamphlets on the ill effects of the tobacco habit.

"Tobacco is the greatest menace to America today," says he. "It will pass out in the following order—public smoking, cigars, cigars, chewing tobacco, then in all forms."

But Joe Merwin, Cleveland printer, laughs at any deadliness in his 170' pipe. He's 65 years old and boasts he has smoked since he was 15.

"After 50 years of smoking," Joe brags, "I'm still a husky, puffin' away every day."

PROHIBITION HAS MADE CALIFORNIANS WEALTHY

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Washington, D. C.—Mankind, it seems, is always willing to pay a high price for forbidden fruit.

For that reason, national prohibition, instead of bringing bankruptcy to the wine grape growers of California, has brought them prosperity they had never even dreamed of.

A bill providing for purchase by Uncle Sam of two California vineyard tracts which he has used, under lease, for experimenting in wine grape culture, develops that wine grapes that used to sell for from $15 to $20 a ton brought their growers this year as high as $100 a ton.

Congressman Charles F. Curry of Sacramento explained that recent high prices have been due to the competition of folks down east to secure grapes with which to make wine in their homes.

Homier Snyder of Little Falls, N. Y., who describes himself as "about as wet as any man in Congress" inquires, Is it proper for Congress to permit California to turn from wine grapes to raisin grapes?

Merchants Employ Parcel Post For Rural Delivery

That Appleton dealers are not using the parcel post service to full advantage is the belief of Gustave Keller, postmaster, who says delivered by parcel post, a plan that is working out well in other cities is not being done to any great extent in Appleton. The department for such purposes is used mostly by druggists, hardware dealers and butchers.

"There is very little local delivery thru parcel post," said Mr. Keller, "but to quite an extent merchants send goods to rural districts. The advantage is apparent. It costs 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each subsequent pound. A large order can be sent at less than it would cost to deliver the order by truck or special messenger. A farmer who lives near the city can get meat for dinner if he orders before nine o'clock in the morning.

"Quite a little parcel post is brought in from the rural districts also. Farmers send in their butter and eggs. They are brought here and delivered to individuals the next morning.

"In the case of the merchants there is one disadvantage. The article must be taken to a parcel post mailing station, and if the merchant is located some distance from such a station, he will not gain much. However, in a large city, where there are many stations it is a simple matter to send orders thru the mail.

"However," continued postmaster Keller, "dealers of Appleton are not availing themselves of the opportunity of using parcel post as much as they comfortably could. Most of them have their delivery trucks, and these cover the territory in the city almost completely.

"City and rural delivery is all done by trucks," said Joseph Steele, general manager of the Pettibone-Pearson company. "We cover all the rural districts and nearby towns. However, we do use the parcel post system for mail order business. We have customers in every state of the Union and in Alaska."

"Yes, the parcel post system is used quite extensively in our business," said Chris Mullen, general manager of Geenen Dry Goods Co. "We have a man who does nothing else but take care of parcel post deliveries. Most of the goods is delivered in the rural districts. We use

Teamster's Life Saved

Writes Letter That is Worth Reading Very Carefully

Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.: I was afflicted with a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors, but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankful yours, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, Mar. 22, 1915, care P. G. Reitz, Box 139.

GREEKS CHRISTMAS STARTS FRIDAY

Appleton Greeks Are Observing Natal Day According to Their Calendar.

Friday is Christmas for the Greeks. Most of the Greeks in Appleton are celebrating the anniversary, which is observed for a period of three days starting Friday and ending at midnight Sunday, January 9.

New Year's day will also be celebrated by the Greeks in accordance with the Greek calendar 13 days after the western New Year's.

The difference is due to the failure of the Greeks to adopt the calendar reform of Pope Gregory put into effect 533 A. D. The fact that a solar year is 11 minutes and 14 seconds less than 364 days has resulted in the Greek calendar being 13 days behind the Gregorian calendar at the present time.

It is estimated that under the present Greek calendar the Greeks by 72,000 A. D. would be celebrating Christmas at the time United States celebrates Independence Day.

PRISON SENTENCES FOR LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS

The proper punishment for violators of the Volstead enforcement act seems to present almost as serious a problem to judges generally as does the enforcement of the act itself to federal agents.

Thousands of arrests and convictions of liquor law violators have been made throughout the country since prohibition has become the law of the land. Thousands of such cases have been brought before judges whose inclinations seem to have been toward leniency, no doubt thinking that this policy would be effective and break up the traffic. However, it seems that the traffic goes on almost unabated, with this policy having little, if any, effect. Hundreds of cases wherein absolute guilt was established have been brought before judges who have let the offenders off with small fines, or dismissed the cases with a slight reprimand, advising them to watch their step in the future.

That this plan of leniency has not been effective is evidenced by the fact that more serious punishment has been dealt out during the past few weeks by judges in this district. The action of Judge K. M. Landis of Chicago in handing out imprisonment sentences together with heavy fines has met with much favor by those who believe in strict enforcement of our laws. And the enforcement of our laws, whether city, state or nation are of vital importance to the well-being of society.

As long as mere fines were imposed upon violators of the liquor law, they were inclined to view the sentence as of little consequence. In fact there have been instances of second offenders brought into court who were found to have ceased selling liquor only long enough to allay suspicion and have the first case disposed of, after which they were soon found to be back in the old game again.

It seems that the only solution of this state of affairs has been to give offenders a view from behind prison bars for a few months, as it is this kind of sentence that will prove to violators that judges are in earnest in ridding the country of the liquor traffic. The recent action of Judge Geiger of Milwaukee in sentencing four offenders to imprisonment will serve as a most significant warning to those who are still defying the law in this district. It will also give those who have already been apprehended an idea of what may be awaiting them when their cases come up for trial, if guilt is found.

Prison sentences are apt to be viewed quite differently from fines and the sooner a persistent policy of this kind is pursued by the judges of the country, the sooner will we see the enforcement of the Volstead act a matter of fact as well as purpose. Federal officers have done a great work in bringing offenders into court, but mere warnings and leniency in fines have not brought the result anticipated in the Eighteenth amendment.

HAVE WE THE BEST?

We have an interesting communication from the Wisconsin Teachers' association. It presents some facts about education in this state which are well worth considering. They have to do with six selected cities touching their school systems, and particularly salaries and professional training of teachers. They are rated by the association from "fair to excellent."

Madison heads the list with a minimum salary of $1200 and not a single teacher without professional training. Out of two hundred and fourteen teachers there are only ten who were not graduates of normal school, university or college. Seven of these had attended college and three had attended normal school.

In Kenosha 87 per cent of the teachers are normal school or college graduates. None is without some professional training.

ing. Salaries range for qualified teachers from $1200 to $1908 in the grade and to $3500 for grade principals; from $1500 to $2328 in the high schools. Kenosha puts a premium on educational training in its system of grading teachers. In Racine 53 per cent of the teachers graduated from normal school courses; 33 per cent attended college, and thirteen were college graduates. Nine teachers only were high school graduates without professional training. Salaries range from $1000 to $1850 in the grades and up to $3300 for principals. In Beloit 85 per cent of the teachers are normal or college graduates, and fifteen are high school graduates. A large proportion of Beloit's teachers attend summer school, and a special salary inducement is made to those who do so. Salaries are not very high.

Pond du Lac has a salary range of $1200 to $1500 in the grades and 82 per cent of its teachers are normal or college graduates. Eight teachers are high school graduates only. In La Crosse 84 per cent of the teachers are normal or college graduates. Only three lack professional training beyond the high school.

The public would, we have no doubt, like to know where Appleton stands in comparison with these cities, particularly Madison and Kenosha. There would be no object in comparing ourselves with cities which are only fair or low in point of salaries paid or in professional training of the teachers. It would be of no particular benefit to know that we were as good as the average or better than the poorest. The thing of importance is, what is our rating against the best there is in Wisconsin? How many teachers in Appleton are college or normal graduates? How many have had professional training beyond the high school? Are the salaries paid here drawing teachers equipped for high class service, or do we have to fill out with untrained teachers?

These are questions that a school survey would help to shed light upon. We take it that the people of Appleton want the best school system that is within the city's resources.

LIGHT FOR CRIME

"Light is the best cure for crime," says Lieut. James J. Skehan of the New York police force. "The first step in cleaning up a city is to provide plenty of are lights."

Lieut. Skehan is unquestionably right. "Bright lights" have been given undue prominence as a sinful lure. It should be remembered that neither sins nor crimes are often committed in the light. They seek the dark places. Murders and hold-ups and burglaries occur on dark streets, or in the dark sections of poorly lighted streets. The stores and banks robbed are likely to be those not lighted up at night so that passers-by can see into them.

Light is always cleansing, always hygienic, whether in the physical world or in the realm of morals or mind. Civilization is often compared with light. It is a fact that modern civilization has developed along with the improvement of lighting methods, which have lengthened the short winter nights of northern climes, enabling people to work or play or study as easily by night as by day.

These "crime waves" which appear so often with the coming of winter, and of which this last one seems rather worse than usual, are nothing compared with similar outbreaks of lawlessness in older days. Read Victor Hugo's account of the Paris criminals in "Notre Dame", or any truthful record of life in London a century or two ago. Electric lights have done more than the police to make present-day cities safer. There is no danger of any city having too much light on its streets.

TODAY'S POEM
(By Edmund Vance Cooke)

EASE

There is small sturdiness within our knees:
There is but fatty fibre in our health
And sapless conscience in our Commonwealth.
Denying our disaster and disease,
Hand rubbing hand, we smirk and "strive to please!"
We sin by proxy and we pray by stealth;
We ask for lordlier wage and grander wealth;
Our God is Comfort and our prophet Ease.

By petty pleasures we are teased and whirled.
We dabble in the game without a goal.
Our brows are lifted and our lips are curled
And, laughing, we revise the ancient scroll:
"What shall it profit the man save his soul,
If by that saving he shall lose the world?"

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

NO, IT IS NOT YOUR LIVER

Almanacs are esteemed nowadays only as relics or curios, but that most plausible suggestion of the almanacologist, namely that a sallow complexion indicates liver complaint, is just about as current as ever.

As a matter of fact a sallow complexion has nothing to do with the liver or rather less to do with the liver than it has with the lungs.

Most people who have not quite reached the gallstone age imagine that jaundice is a more or less essential symptom of gallstone disease. They think it is that jaundice is noted in only one case out of every eight, the great majority of gallstone cases presenting no jaundice from beginning to end.

Sallowness and jaundice are as unrelated as are howls and carache, their one point of similarity being that they both occur in human beings. A sallow skin is one that appears less ruddy than normal, because for one reason or another it contains at the moment less blood to tint the skin pink.

Jaundice is a staining of the skin and the mucous membranes with bile. A sallow individual shows no yellow stain in the lining of the eyes or the covering of the eyeballs or in the lining of the lips; one who is jaundiced, even slightly, shows such staining of the mucous membranes as well as the skin.

When Mrs. Sairey Camp assures you that your sallow skin, or the so-called "liver spots" on it are due to something the matter with your liver, it would be well to tell her in turn that you think she must be coming down with lingual St. Vitus' dance.

You are as nearly correct as she is, and your right to make diagnoses is as firmly established as hers. If you should ever be taken ill, or sick as they prefer to say in England, so very sick that you wish to greenish bile should show up after your earlier efforts, don't let anybody deduce therefrom that it is your liver.

The fact that the bile comes thru so positively, rather goes to prove that it is not your liver at all. Repeated vomiting, no matter how caused, brings up some bile in a normal individual. If there were some obstruction of the gall-conveying apparatus, then no bile would appear.

I have just one more compulsion to pay the almanacologist and then we will call it a day. Some one a long while ago conceived a theory that calomel does something to the liver or the bile. It doesn't. Not a thing. But that notion prevails widely, and therefore a great deal of calomel is taken ill-advisedly by people who too readily indel their own lives. Calomel is merely a physic. It can serve no good purpose which safer physics will not serve, and sometimes it does a lot of harm, not to even mention the needless nausea and misery many victims of the calomel habit endure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

An Easy One

Our boy, aged 11, has always had trouble in controlling his kidneys, especially at night. An old herb doctor said all that could be done was to give him some herbs, but it didn't help him. We also tried a course of treatment recommended by the druggist. Can you please give me some information in regard to it? (Mrs. P. R. O.)

ANSWER.—You probably mean the boy wets the bed. If you will send stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply by mail, we will be glad to send you directions for the management of bed-wetting.

Blindness of the Newborn

Please settle this argument: A holds that children of parents, one or both of whom have gonorrhea, are apt to be born blind. B holds that gonorrhea leaves no taint in the blood at all, but that it is syphilis which accounts for blindness at birth. Which is right? (R. J. R.)

ANSWER.—Both are wrong. Syphilis is rarely, if ever, the explanation for congenital blindness. Gonorrhea practically never is responsible for blindness at birth, but if a newborn child contracts gonorrhea inflammation of the eyes, and this is not promptly recognized and carefully treated, the inflammation may terminate in blindness. In the majority of such cases the infection is to be traced to disease contracted by the father before marriage. It is so frequent in every community that in some states physicians must enter in the birth certificate an answer to the question: "What preventive of Ophthalmia Neonatorum did you use?" And if he has not ordered or himself placed in the baby's eyes a drop or two of a 2 per cent silver nitrate solution, supplied for the purpose, he is required to explain in the certificate why this was not done.

DESPERATE REGGIE

The path of love was not lined with rose leaves for Reginald and he was getting tired of it. He felt it was time to give his imitation of the worm that turned when the maiden asked for the thousandth time.

"Are you sure you love me, dear?" Reginald drew a deep breath, and then let off steam.

"Do I—look here, my darling," he gasped. "I've missed my last car home for the third time this week. You're been sitting on my knees for three hours till I've got the cramp; your little brother has torn the trim off my hat and your father made me smoke one of his bearded cheap cigars this evening; I've spent my last dollar on those chocolate you're fond of, and I've never crumbled once. Do you think I hate you?"—Los Angeles Times.

A Crack At College.
—By Frederic J. Haskin.
Washington, D. C.—College students don't learn as much now as they used to. This, in substance, is the modest admission of the chancellor of the University of the West.
When the college professors themselves thus boldly hint that college is not all it should be, the time may be at hand when the general public will also begin to suspect as much. It may be that even the student will come to realize that the dear old alma mater is not giving them the best kind of upbringing. Those bachelors of art and science, whom we turn out by the thousands every year with the speed and uniformity of cakes of soap from a factory, may be visited by the disturbing notion that they are bachelors indeed in the sense that they are not wedded to any art or any science whatever—that, in fact, they have never more than flirted with those two dangerous damsels and know no more about them than the true bachelor does about women.

This does not apply, of course, to the men who go to universities to learn specific things, such as agriculture, engineering, chemistry, physics, law or medicine. These men find at the university the books and laboratories they need, and men to guide them in the use of these facilities. That is enough for any man who really wants to learn something.

It is the so-called liberal education which we refer to, and which the chancellor of Washington university refers to. It is further referred to very opportunely in a long report which has just been published by the bureau of education, tracing the history of the degree of bachelor of arts in this country from 1642 and showing just what it consisted in some hundred different universities.

Table d'Hote Education.
This report is respectful, not to say laudatory in tone; but the facts it reveals with painful clarity just what a liberal education in the United States has come to be. It has come to be much like a 75 cent table d'hote dinner—a little of this and a little of that. There may be a choice between prunes and bread pudding for dessert, but aside from that you can't have anything different from the other fellow, and you can't have any more.

These table d'hote dinners are founded on the notion that all human animals are about alike in their gastronomic needs and tastes. The assumption works fairly well in most cases, individuality in eating not being of any special value. And the bachelor of arts degree is founded on the notion that all boys of 20 are almost exactly alike in their mental needs and tastes. That assumption is fundamentally wrong, because they differ, and the first purpose of education should be to keep them different, to develop their differences. If a man does anything unusual, it is because he is a different sort of man. The average man does the average thing. An army of mediocrities is what the colleges produce, when they ought above all to be machines which sift out the

with the Babylonians as early as the third millennium B. C. Among the works of this period are the Gudea, 2450, B. C., and the Code of Hammurapi, 2150 B. C. Ancient Greece and Rome had numerous noted historians.

Q. How did the term "Kaiser" originate? D. H. A.
A. Both "Kaiser" and "Czar" were derived from the Latin name, Caesar.

Q. Why is brown rice higher in price than polished rice? E. E.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that there are several reasons why the brown rice is not sold cheaply. The first place is that it is more expensive machinery installed for removing the bran and polishing the grain and they claim it is not saving to them not to have to use this machinery. The bran—the cuticle and embryo—contains fat and this becomes rancid after a time so that the brown rice has not the lasting properties of polished rice and must be sold in a comparatively short time. Brown rice is said to be more liable to attack by insects.

Q. How long does a copyright run? Can it be renewed? M. E.
A. The duration of a copyright is ordinarily 28 years, though it can be renewed for a further period of 28 years. Upon the expiration of this time, the material passes into the public domain.

Q. Where are the greatest equestrian statues in the world? H. D. A.
A. In Saint Gaudens' opinion, Col'oni by Verrocchio in Venice, Gai-lamelatta by Donatello in Padua, and Jeanne d'Arc by Paul Dubois in Rheims are the finest examples in the world of this form of art.

Q. How far is the Amazon River navigable? Are there any railroads up the valley of the river? B. A. R.
A. It is possible to go a distance of 2,300 miles up the Amazon to Iquitos, and by smaller boats 466 miles beyond this point. There are several proposed railroads up the Amazon valley, but none has yet been built.

Q. What is an accolade? C. H.
A. An accolade is literally an embrace. The term is generally applied to a ceremony or salutation which marks the conferring of a knighthood or similar distinction.

Q. Please give me a quotation of the Spartans. L. S.
A. Probably the most famous quotation attributed to the Spartans is the laconic sentence of the Spartan mother or who said: "Either this, or upon this" when she handed her son his shield.

Q. How did gypsies get this name? F. F. T.
A. The name "gypsy" is probably derived from "Egyptian," by which term the gypsies were known in the English states.

Q. What is a pheasant shell? I. M. C.
A. This name is given to the shells of a gastropod mollusk of the family of Turbinidae, which are much valued for their beauty, suggesting by their gorgeous metallic tints the plumage of pheasants.

Q. How can the corduroy lining to a go-cart be cleaned without removing? W. J. W.
A. Clean the corduroy with gasoline or benzine. Apply with a brush, wipe off with cloth dipped in clean gasoline, and place in sun to dry.

Q. Are laborers on farms hired on a strictly money basis, or is board included? F. E. C.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that of the total labor hired on farms in the United States, 36.1 per cent is on a monthly basis without board, 15.5 on this basis without board, 31 per cent by the day, not counting extra harvest help, which amounts to 17.4 per cent.

Q. When gold bears the mark "14 K" does that guarantee that it is 14 karat gold? G. H. J.
A. The mark "14 K" is a guarantee that the article bearing it is made of 14 karat gold.

Q. What has become of Solomon's Temple? H. A. C.
A. Solomon's Temple was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B. C.

Q. Has an electric light bulb air in it? If not how is it removed? G. A. A.
A. The Bureau of Standards says there are two kinds of incandescent lights. One contains a vacuum and the other a gas, usually nitrogen. In the vacuum bulbs, the air is removed after the bulbs are completed by exhausting it with a vacuum pump, and then sealing the tip of the bulb before air can enter.

Q. What games do Chinese children play? C. P. G.
A. The Chinese have numerous games, many quite similar to those played by American children. Kite-flying and bat-tledore and shuttlecock are popular. Ta Chan, or "hitting the ball" is played by striking the ball to the ground with the hand as often as possible. Various forms of Blindman's Buff, Ta Tei-Lo, or whipping the top, and Ta Pan, a form of hop scotch, prove that childhood knows the same games in many countries. Punch and Judy shows are very popular with Chinese children.

Q. Can a father be a witness for a son who is about to get his naturalization papers, or is a relative barred? J. V.
A. The Naturalization Bureau says that a father may be a witness for his son when he makes application for his final papers.

JAP AUTHOR SEES WAR WITH AMERICA

Book Declares Conflict Between Two Countries Is Inevitable.

By Milton Brommer (Special to Post-Crescent)

London—"Those who haven't foreseen future war between Japan and the United States are either imbeciles or blind."

That is part of the preface by Kawasima, to a revised edition of Tazukawa's book, originally issued in 1914, under the title, "The Future War Between Japan and the United States."

Paris is aroused over the preface, which further says:

"Look, for instance, at the Chinese-American question. Isn't it a burning one for us?"

"Look at South America. Isn't the Monroe Doctrine a handicap for us?"

"Consider again the question of the southern Pacific. Haven't New Zealand and Australia offered the United States an alliance against us?"

"If our compatriots are blind, nothing can be done, but if they are wise, won't they admit this was a menace and become more so each day?"

Unready for War

The Japs should avoid war at present, as their armaments are unready.

"When the armaments are ready, the critical moment approaches," he says.

He deems it strange that people don't understand this, and has calculated the chances of the two nations according to their forces.

The book pictures the capture of the Philippines and of Hawaii at one bold stroke, the taking of the Panama Canal, and the disembarkation of Jap troops in California.

It predicts a battle at San Francisco, followed by invasion of the entire western American coast by Jap legions.

Contents of Book

Typical chapter headings give an idea of the tenor:

"Are Americans civilized?"

"Japanese are not dogs."

"Rising Sun banner floats over Manila."

"Heaven protects us."

"Loss of Philippines."

"Feebleness of the American army."

"Direct attack on San Francisco."

"Battle to death."

"City falls."

Tazukawa also directs attention to California's restrictions on Japanese residents as a cause for aggressive action by Japan.

WOMEN OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR WORLD DISARMAMENT
Special to Post-Crescent
Washington. — Abolition of armaments is demanded by women of the Washington branch of the Women's Peace Society, which has opened an active disarmament drive on Congress. Their first step will be a fight for action by Congress on a resolution introduced by Congressman E. B. Brooks of Illinois, authorizing and directing the president to invite all nations to send delegates to an international disarmament conference, to consider ways and means of bringing about joint disarmament.

"The czar attempted, back in 1898, to bring about a conference of this sort," says Benton MacKaye, active organizer for the society. "But the world wasn't ready to fit them. We believe it is ready for it now."

"We will not be satisfied by Senator Borah's resolution for a limitation of armaments by United States, Great Britain and Japan. We will fight the appropriation of so much as one penny for army or navy."

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By the careful estimation of the amount of food to be served at each meal the housekeeper can effect an appreciable saving.

A few moments thought expended in calculation based on the knowledge of the appetites and tastes of those to be served makes it possible to provide just enough.

In a family where leftovers are not tolerated this accurate provision of food should be worked out most judiciously, otherwise there is danger of too great frugality, causing undernourishment.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST — Stewed prunes, cooked cereal, hot buttered toast, coffee.
LUNCHEON — Spanish rice, brown bread and butter, glace apples, tea.
DINNER — Pot roast of veal, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, head lettuce salad, lemon roll, coffee.

My Own Recipes
There is no cereal that is not improved by long cooking, no matter what the directions on the package lead one to believe. If a cooked cereal is served for breakfast it should be started the night before and partially cooked while the dinner dishes are being done. It will finish cooking while the coffee is boiling in the morning.

SPANISH RICE
1 cup rice
1 quart canned tomatoes
2 medium-sized onions
2 green peppers
1 cup diced celery
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons bacon fat
Melt bacon fat in a frying pan and add sliced onions. Cook until onions are a pale straw color. Add tomatoes. Add rice carefully washed and drained. Add celery and shredded peppers. Season with salt and pepper and cook slowly for an hour. Stir frequently to prevent burning.

GLACE APPLES
2 apples
1 cup sugar
Pare and core apples. Cut in slices about half an inch thick. Put in a stew pan with the sugar and cook very slowly for forty-five minutes. Apples that are rather coarse-grained and don't cook to pieces are the nicest to use. The syrup should be a very pale straw color when removed from the fire. Do not try to cook more than this quantity at one time.

"NIGGER GOLF" IS GRIPPING WOMEN

Gallop Dominoes Is Popular Game With Chicago's Fair Sex.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Sweet nursery lullabies brooding infants to sleep have been replaced by snapping fingers and excited tearful entreaties, such as "Oh baby, he-e there," according to department store clerks here today.

Women, they say, have taken up "nigger golf" with such dexterity that men are going broke.

The dice playing craze, clerks said, has extended to all classes of women. In the boudoirs of society dames and in the least elegant parlor of wives of working men, dice are being thrown.

Women have besieged department and jewelry stores for dice ranging in price from 60 cents to hundreds of dollars.

One store reported that a society woman brought in a pair of silver dice and had the jeweler spot the cubes with diamonds.

So strong is the dice fad among women that a special dice about one eighth of an inch square has been manufactured. It is made of silver and comes in a case about the size of a small cartridge.

They are less fashionable, however, than dice made of ivory and mother of pearl.

The dice, said the dealers, originated with men who learned to play while in the army. It didn't take long for it to spread to the women, one dealer said. It was something manly and didn't take a lot of intelligence.

The women, however, this dealer said, have it on the men. They play more recklessly and with greater courage and will pyramid their bets several times.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH
If Jim Lives, Deb Wants No Other Blessing in Life

"Fate has been good to me," Deborah Burns looked at me for the first time. She looked at me defiantly, then went on:

"Fate has given him to me—at the end—to hold in my arms—so—"

She kissed Jim's eyelids softly while I felt his pulse again.

"Still beating," I said. "Your bandages have stopped the bleeding." I added after I had made an examination of them. "Now you and I are going to act as if we were sure that Jim is to get well. If he does, my dear you—and your bandages will have saved his life. That's a great deal to thank fate for, isn't it?"

"If he lives—if God lets him stay in this world, even though I never see him, I'll give him up to Ann willingly," she said solemnly. "I can't think of a world without Jim in it. When he was flying, I asked God every day to keep him safe. Every day, I said to myself, that if Jim came safely home again, I would have my full share of happiness. He came home. But I forgot. I wanted more. Jane, I wanted everything. You understand?"

"All—or nothing. Yes, dear, I know how a girl like you can love!" I murmured.

"If Jim lives, I'll never expect another blessing in my life!"

Neither of us spoke after that. There was nothing more to say. Looking back upon it, I know that was the most dramatic scene I shall ever witness of the stage. The loveliest of girls, stripped of her riding shirt, the tall trees behind her, the stretch of yellow road, the man dying in her arms, the silence broken only by her murmured endearments are unforgettable details of that dreadful day.

I was too absorbed in Deb to notice the approach of a depot wagon. The men in it proved to be A. E. F. veterans. They debated as to the wisdom of moving Jim. Deb herself uncovered her bandages, and persuaded the man that her work had been well done. Then they turned up the seats of the flier, and made a bed of cushions on the floor of the wagon-box.

"Deborah, dear! Get in first," I suggested. "Make a pillow of your arms for his head!" I wasn't at all sure that Jim would live until we reached the small private hospital at the edge of town. Whatever the event, let poor Deb have her one great privilege until the last minute.

The men lifted the body gently into the car. I sat by Deb's side and the flier moved slowly over the uneven road.

I suppose the motion of the auto jarred poor Jim's nerves. He moaned, opened his eyes, and looked straight into Deb's. His lips moved. I was close enough to him to hear:

"I knew you'd come to me—some time—you dear!"

Jim spoke like one who dreams, then he was gone again into that terrifying quiet. My own heart seemed to stand still while I counted once more the faint beating in his wrist.

"He still lives!" I repeated the words to reassure Deb.

Chrys and her doctors and ambulance met us outside of the town. The doctors sent back their ambulance. They wouldn't risk moving Jim, and they approved Deb's "first aid" highly. One of them whispered to me that the girl had saved his life, probably. Chrys took a white coat from the ambulance driver and covered Deb's lovely shoulders. The doctors administered a stimulant to Jim, one of them took my place in the flier and we proceeded toward the hospital.

They let Deb remain as she was, supporting Jim in her arms.

LLOYD GEORGE IS SOLE SURVIVOR OF "BIG FIVE"

Special to Post-Crescent
London.—In a speech before the Rotary Club, Lord Riddell pointed out the changes that a brief time makes in the men who dominate the affairs of the world.

"Less than two years ago," he said, "Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Wilson, Orlando and Venizelos were the dominant figures. Today four of these men are out of action, only Lloyd George being in possession of the functions he then exercised."

Riddell, a close friend of Lloyd George, said of "the survivor":

"People have asked me how he succeeds in keeping so well, considering his cares and anxieties.

"The secret is very simple. Lloyd George is a very girly, vivacious, optimistic person, almost always in good spirits, has a remarkable sense of humor, and his refuge, even in the most stormy times, is to pick up a book and divert his attention from the subjects harassing him."

Sale Lasts for 6 Days Only

This January Challenge Sale will see the most severe reduction in prices that we have ever known since we have been in business. The word has been passed along that the retailer must take his loss now in order to try and reduce the high costs which have prevailed, and we are prepared to take ours now. We shall not try to tell you how much of a loss this will be to us but we honestly believe that this winter will see the lowest prices on goods for some time to come. Prices are cut on practically every article in the store. No attention has been paid to what the goods cost or to our profits on them. Our only thought is to clear out stocks and we believe at their new reductions they will move out in double-quick time.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR 7 RUM SELLERS

Two Chilton Men Sentenced to Workhouse for 60 Days for Selling Liquor.

Milwaukee.—Seven more liquor law violators taken in Thursday's federal roundup were given prison sentences several hours after their arrest by Judge P. A. Geary. The men pleaded guilty to charges lodged against them by the grand jury.

One of the prisoners, Louis Schwartz, a Chilton saloonkeeper and thirty-second division veteran, was sentenced to the house of correction for sixty days and fined $100 for unlawful purchase of whisky and sale of liquor over the bar, Jacob Gronas, a saloonist of the same city, received a similar punishment for the unlawful possession of twelve gallons of bonded

COMRADES PAY TRIBUTE TO WATERTOWN SOLDIER

Watertown.—Headed by the Rev. Fr. Dietz in his uniform of an army chaplain, the funeral of Luke Dunigan, who died overseas in United States service, wound through the streets of Watertown to St. Bernard's Catholic church, where requiem high mass was said. In spite of the fact that his parents reside in Milwaukee, the body was sent here as the young man had made his home with an aunt here for several years previous to the war. Dunigan lost his life in the battle of Juvigny. Fr. Dietz was his company chaplain and members of his company who witnessed his death from a shell explosion were among the mourners. Sergeant Frank L. Dittler, post, American legion, furnished a guard of honor.

Eleven men arrested on Thursday pleaded not guilty when arraigned in United States District court and were ordered tried on Jan. 21.

New Raids Rumored.—Considerable mystery surrounded the absence from the city on Wednesday and Thursday of the entire prohibition enforcement staff here. The day officers it is rumored, are preparing for another invasion of a Wisconsin "wet" spot similar to the big raid at Hurley ten days ago. Their whereabouts is being guarded with the utmost secrecy.

While deputy marshals were out apprehending indicted saloonmen and others, prohibition officials in Milwaukee took steps to cut the city's liquor supply. It was announced that at least thirty of the forty-seven licensed wholesalers in Wisconsin will be denied permits this week. Druggists and doctors will also be curbed.

MADISON MAN IS FORCED TO WAIVE CLAIMS TO WIFE

Woman's Lover Takes Woman From Husband's Home in Madison.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison, Wis.—"I shall make no effort to find them, instead I shall try to raise my boy to be a comfort to me, but to know nothing about his mother."

That was the statement made by Philip M. Franzen, boss or foreman of the painters employed by the University of Wisconsin, whose wife eloped early Wednesday morning with Pierre P. Authier, alias Pierre C. Devoey, Highland Park, Ill., chemist, who is alleged to have deserted his own wife and child and came to Madison where he forced Franzen, at the point of an automatic pistol, to sign a paper waiving all claim to his wife.

"I expect to give up my little flat and engage room and board with some private family where Kemp, (his little 2 years old son) can have the care of a woman. I want him to forget his mother, as I shall try to. She never was very fond of him as a mother should be although until last summer I could not see it. But since last July, when I think she first met Authier or Devoey, Kemp has been a burden to her and I have been fearful at times for his safety as she has repeatedly called him a 'brat' and wished he had never been born."

"I could not understand why she went away several times this last summer and fall," said Franzen, who referred to his wife as "she," instead of calling her his wife. "She first went to Chicago early last summer and about a week later wrote me for $10 to come home on. She refused to discuss her actions and for the sake of the baby, I decided to forgive and forget the matter. I never dreamed then that she had been with another man. I thought she had probably been looking for a job as she had said one or twice she would do, and failing to find it had decided to return home."

"Our home life has been anything but happy since that time, although I did not know why. She would not talk about it, appeared to prefer to be alone and would seldom so much as go to the movies with me. We had spoken of going to the movie Tuesday evening but after supper she declined to go but insisted that I go alone and I did so."

"When I returned she met me in the hall and we had hardly shut the door when there was a knock at the door. I can see now that it was prearranged and she was really expecting it, but I was surprised at the time. When I opened the door Authier, or Devoey, as she called him, stepped in and she introduced him to me as her husband, whom she said she had married in Australia but they had become separated. She thought he was dead and married me, while he claimed he had been searching for her for ten years."

"He declared she was his and he would have her, dead or alive and jerked out an ugly automatic pistol which he pointed at me and compelled us both to sign a paper which was dated Jan. 4, each forswearing any interest in the other. Then he demanded that I give him what money I had and to give her a check for $100, which she cashed at the store down stairs and they went away together shortly after midnight, she taking all her belongings.

"I was too dazed to think and made no effort to stop either of them and I did not report the matter to the police. I sat there all night trying to figure out just what had been going on. I believed at that time that they had been married before I met her, but I am satisfied now that is not true. I think she met him first last summer and that they fell in love with each other. Wednesday I received a letter from his wife in Highland Park telling of finding letters from her. Mrs. Franzen, and she sent one of them to me. Then my eyes were opened and I realized that I had been the victim. But I don't want to talk about it. I want to forget her and will devote all my attention now to little Kemp who will soon forget her and be happy as soon as I can find a new home."

LA FOLLETTE PLANS HIS RACE FOR 1922

Politicians Attend Inauguration and Discuss Plans for Future.

Madison—Politicians came home to roost here on Monday, drawn to the capitol by the inauguration of Gov. John J. Blaine and the other newly elected state officials.

Senator R. M. LaFollette was the central figure at two long conferences at Woodman hall, during which he appealed to some fifty of his boosters to organize for the campaign in 1922, when he will run for re-election. Then there were conferences at hotels bearing on the speakership contest in the assembly and the organization of the senate and house when the legislature convenes on Jan. 12.

Erick Onstad presided at the LaFollette powwows. LaFollette spoke at morning and afternoon sessions of his henchmen, the burden of his argument being that he was in the fight of his life and it was up to his followers to organize to the last ditch.

Barrel of Money, Him:
The plan is to build a machine which will extend from the cities to the country precincts. The LaFollette faction is said to have a barrel of campaign money, and there was talk that the propaganda program might include the establishment of two daily newspapers, one to blossom forth in the Fox river valley and the other in the far western part of the state.

Alarm over the drift of the women to Senator Irvine L. Lenroot in the senatorial contest against James Thompson, LaFollette emphasized that nothing was more important than to get this vote lined up if possible. Announcement was made that the conference was held to bring the progressives of Wisconsin together, but the real purpose of the meeting was to start the ball rolling for LaFollette. On the surface this new machine will be labeled for LaFollette and Blaine, with everybody fully aware of the fact that it will be the senator's own political property. The non-partisan league and radical elements considered friendly to him will form the groundwork of this organization.

Unless Speaker Riley Young of Darien makes a runaway fight for re-election in the republican's caucus on the night before the legislature meets, it is conceded that the Milwaukee delegation may represent the balance of power.

At this time Young appears to be out in the lead in the speakership scrap against Wallace Ingalls, Racine; Frank Hanson, Mauston, and William E. Olson of Iowa county. Despite the fact that Mr. Olson is considered Gov. Blaine's first choice, he is considered out of the running. Ingalls and Hanson both have a following that is impressive, but Mr. Young seems to have the inside track unless the race becomes so close that the Milwaukee delegation may decide it.

BIDDY WORKS HARDER TO FILL FAMILY LARDER

Washington—This little story might nicely be called "The Romance of Biddy and Tick."

Tick's an alarm clock and Biddy, of course, is a common variety chick. Now Tick, so the government scientists say, can well be applied to a use!

It will make Biddy lay more eggs in the hay, by being attached to some "juice."

The "juice" is within an electric light globe and Tick's hands are set so to make—

The light flicker brightly and wake Biddy up in advance of the time for daybreak.

Now Biddy is dumb and she thinks day has come, so she waddles her up to a nest;

Hence you'll find in the hay more hen fruit every day—at least so the dopesters have guessed.

What Biddy will think of this plan no one knows; and will she be fooled? Who can say?

But the government yeggs who would steal Biddy's eggs are at work on the problem today.

MODERN CHILDREN ARE PLEASURE-MAD

Woman Educator Wonders What the Next Generation Will Do.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Denver, Col.—Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, Colorado's superintendent of public instruction, sighs for the children of 1920.

"What kind of humans will we have in the next generation?" she asks. "The young people today have turned away from learning to mad pursuit of that elusive phantom—pleasure."

Lured from Books
"Invention has opened many new fields of amusement which are luring humanity away from books. Before the day of movies and automobiles and such extensive diversions boys and girls turned to books for amusement and their minds were improved."

"Now they have deserted their books. I know many boys and girls who feel that they simply must go to the movies at least three times a week. Movies—some movies—are instructive, of course, but they do not supplant books as a means of developing the mind."

Parents at Fault
"How can you blame the children, though, when father and mother take them to the movies three times a week and otherwise lead them into a fondness for amusement that is bound to impair their mental development."

"Two things are necessary: School education must be made attractive enough to compete with movies and other amusements and parents must instill in children a desire for knowledge and mental training."

"Otherwise, the next generation may find knowledge cornered by the industrious few."

$150,000 FIND IS REAL BOOMERANG

Gary Woman Now Is Sorry She Found Bundle of Notes in Taxicab.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Gary, Ind.—How sorry would you be if you found $150,000—and couldn't find the owner?

Mrs. Charles C. Jagger, wife of a Gary express wagon driver, says it was the sorriest day of her life when she found $150,000 worth of United States treasury certificates in a Chicago taxicab last March.

Here are subsequent developments: Mrs. Jagger took the money home. Jagger says they advertised in half a dozen big cities for the owner and got no reply.

Then, Jagger charges, two Gary men bamboozled him out of two $10,000 certificates.

He wanted to prosecute them for larceny. They explained they had merely sold the certificates on commission at a big discount. Jagger says he turned $110,000 worth of the certificates over to the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago to be held for the owner.

"Not here," says Deputy Governor McKay of the bank.

"More trouble," says Jagger. Now one of the men Jagger accuses, Justice of Peace Benjamin Laube, is starting proceedings to make Jagger restore all the certificates to public authorities. Laube contends Mrs. Jagger had no right to remove property not her own from a common carrier.

If Laube succeeds, the Jagers not only lose the $150,000 but will have to make up what they lost through the sale of the two $10,000 bonds as a discount.

And now comes federal authorities who claim the Jagers must pay an "inheritance" tax of $51,000 on their find.

City Does Not Reach Quota In Sale Of Red Cross Seals

Sales Average Only Four per Capita as Compared With Quota of Ten.

A total of $2,431 Red Cross Christmas seals were sold in Appleton during the Christmas season, netting $24,311. of which $11,137 was collected through the schools and $13,174 through the business places. The sale lacked 5,018 stamps of coming up to the sale of last year which totaled $7,450 seals.

The campaign was conducted by the public health department of the Appleton Woman's club, which will receive half the proceeds after the expenses are paid. The expenditures have been estimated at $2,935, which would net $460.24 for the club.

For the third successive year, Miss Jean Jackson's room, the sixth grade room in the Lincoln school, sold the largest number of stamps, which was 3,800 or $38.00 worth. Miss Jackson's room was given a prize of $5 to be used in purchasing magazines. A similar prize was also awarded to Miss Myrtle Culbertson's room, the second grade of the first ward school, which sold seals aggregating $30.50. The rooms selling the next highest numbers in their order were: Miss Alma Bohlman's room, the seventh grade in Lincoln school, 2,955 stamps; fourth grade room at St. Mary school, 2,022; third grade room of Third ward school.

DOBBS GOES UNSHOD BECAUSE OF H. C. O. L.

Farm horses in many parts of the county feel like the kids who go barefoot in summer to save the cost of shoes. Rather than pay 50 cents to shoes, farmers are letting the animals go unshod while they are idle. It was always a custom to keep them shod all year around when blacksmith rates were lower, but now Dobbs must depend on his hoofs until the work season opens.

There has been a brisk sale of driving horses. Most farmers depend on automobiles the greater part of the year, but will buy a light horse in the winter if he can find a cheap one. He will use the animal until the roads improve in the spring and then sell him again.

Mrs. Otto Baumgartner of Green Bay, formerly of Appleton, visited friends here Thursday.

MORE INTERMENTS IN 1920 THAN YEAR AGO

Twenty more interments were made in St. Joseph cemetery last year than in 1919. Seventy-seven burials were made in 1920 and only 57 in 1919. January for both years claimed 7 deaths, but in February of 1920, there were 10 persons buried while in February 1919 there were only 6.

June of 1920 saw 10 pass to the side of the great majority, a gain of 9 over 1919. Six months of 1920 show an increase of deaths, one remains the same as in 1919, and the other five had less deaths than a year ago.

The number of interments each month is as follows:

WHAT DOES A MILLIONAIRE KEEP ON HIS DESK?

Chicago—Ever wonder what graced a millionaire's desk during working hours? Well, here we have one that was "caught in the act." It belongs to J. Ogden Armour, Chicago packer. At the left on his desk is a picture of Mrs. Armour, next a picture of President-elect Harding; then one of mour's business papers were in neat piles. The picture was taken when he welcomed stock raisers and prize winning stock judges who were in Chicago as his guests. Armour is shaking hands with Mrs. Grace L. King of Lafayette, Ind.

George G. King, an overseas veteran and personal friend of Armour, and then a large picture of his daughter, Lolita. To the left of the clock is a book titled "The Gentleman," and just in front of the book and calendar is a hand mirror. To the left of the mirror—the remains of a bag of candy. Ar-

CHORUS GIRL ARRESTED HERE AS A FUGITIVE

Betty Wheelock, a 17 year old girl, preferred stage life to the confines of the Milwaukee Industrial school where she was serving a sentence. She made her escape and joined a theatrical troupe which played in Appleton Thursday evening. Her stage career came to an abrupt end, however, for she was taken into custody by Detective John Duvall and is being held at the police station until the Milwaukee authorities call for her. The young lady's home is given as 1021 Day street, Green Bay.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF FAMINE IN ICE

Lutz Brothers Expect to Harvest Usual Quantity of Frozen Water.

"We expect to put up the usual amount of ice this winter," said Lawrence Lutz, "providing we have an opportunity. The prospects do not look very encouraging now, but the weather is almost certain to turn cold later in the month. The ice at present is not thick enough to harvest being less than six inches, and is not of as good quality as it will be later."

Mr. Lutz stated his company still had quite a large amount of ice on hand in its ice house at Lake Winnebago notwithstanding sales to dealers in Menasha and New London. One section of the ice house has not been touched and there is enough on hand to meet all demands for some time to come.

"We are thru trying out ice cutting inventions," said Mr. Lutz, and hereafter will rely on the old system of using horses which is more satisfactory. The machine we purchased several seasons ago at an expenditure of several hundred dollars has been scrapped for the more reliable method."

Mr. Lutz said his company was ready to begin harvesting as soon as weather conditions are favorable. He does not expect to have any trouble in getting all help he needs and at less wages than was paid last year. Teams of horses which commanded a premium last winter are now more plentiful and can be engaged at a reasonable figure.

Mr. Lutz plans on filling both the ice house on Fox river and the one at Lake Winnebago which will hold enough to supply Appleton and neighboring cities.

Re-elected Ballard
C. E. Ballard of Grand Chute was reelected president of Apple Creek local of the American Society of Equity at its annual meeting Tuesday evening. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Fred Ziegler, secretary, John Merty; treasurer, Albert Lieboke. Several candidates were initiated.

Miss Dorothy Milhaupt has returned to Milwaukee after spending two weeks at her home with her parents. She will go to Madison Tuesday where she will write an examination for a license as a registered nurse. She finished the nurse's training course at St. Mary training school in Milwaukee, Oct. 7. HARDING WORKS ON INAUGURAL SPEECH

By United Press. LANSING, Mich., Jan. 5.—High lights of the inaugural address are beginning to take shape in the mind of President-elect Harding, although it will be two months before the speech is delivered. He has been gathering ideas for his first state paper during conferences at Marion.

The inaugural address will cover a broad list of subjects, including: Tariff, government economy, reorganization of executive departments, the association of nations, Mexico, relations to insular possessions, the administration's attitude toward business, Panama canal tolls, labor difficulties, disarmament and tax revisions.

The address will treat these subjects in a general way and specific recommendations probably will be reserved for the first message to the extra session of congress expected to be called shortly after March 4.

Actual writing of the address, probably will not begin until Harding is safe in the seclusion of his vacation retreat.

W. F. Bletsch of Milwaukee, a former Appleton resident, is visiting here. Mr. and Mrs. S. Clough of Shawano, were Appleton visitors Thursday.

Charles W. Owen of Jefferson, spent Thursday with friends here.

FORDNEY WANTS TAX OF 15 PER CENT ON PROFITS

Special to Post-Crescent.
Washington—Congressman J. W. Fordney, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, is expected to advocate a corporation tax of 15 per cent on profits with no modifications or exceptions.

Arguments are being presented to members of the committee in support of the idea that if a retail sales tax is to be levied, it take the form of monthly payments by a firm on its total volume of sales.

MAID SHORTAGE NO LONGER EXISTS

Unemployment Is Creating a Surplus of Girls Willing to Be Domestic.

"What should I do next?" "Is that all you wish me to do?" Most housewives thought those words from a maid were a relic of bygone days. Not only was it impossible to prevail upon a hired girl to do her full duty, but such personages were not to be found, or else demanded top wages and easy hours.

But Mrs. Housekeeper has found to her delight that those words were not fairy tales. Maids are to be had aplenty, willing ones that will do their work in the old time way.

A well known Appleton woman discovered all this when she placed an advertisement in the Post-Crescent seeking a hired girl. She had between 25 and 40 applicants the first day, from which she was able to choose the kind of maid she needed. She was surprised at the willingness of the girl of her choice to do all the work in sight.

FOOTE RESIGNS AS HEAD OF KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Dr. William J. Foote resigned as grand knight of Appleton council of Knights of Columbus at the regular meeting Thursday night. Press of personal business was given as the cause. A successor will be elected at the next regular meeting, Thursday, Jan. 20. Arrangements for entertainment were discussed and routine business was transacted.

POSTOFFICE IS SORT OF A FAMILY AFFAIR

How a man's thoughts can ramble is shown by a postal card received by Gustave Koller, postmaster, from a doctor at Burk Grove, Iowa. He is original in his effort to sell honey. The card reads:

"My Dear Postmaster: Wife is postmaster here so you understand how I may send honey by mail and still sell at a moderate price. It will be different when you postmasters are on a salary basis. "Do you belong to the Postmasters' league? If not, join at once, for you must unite, organize, if you are to increase your compensation, and get an allowance for rent, fuel and lights. Note what the farmers are already doing by organization. "I will send you some of the finest honey you ever tasted. It is Bonney honey. Dr. A. F. Bonney."

PINK TIGHTS PASSE, CIRCUS MAN AVERS

Ringling Bros. Seek New 'Thriller' to Draw Men to Big Show.

By United Press Leased Wire Chicago.—Pink tights that have adorned the graceful figures of girl trapeze performers and bareback riders since Barnum discovered "one" was born every minute, have been ruled off the sawdust ring by E. P. Norwood, Chicago representative of Ringling Brothers and Barnum-Bailey confided to the United Press today that "the greatest show on earth" had tabooed the silk habiliments.

"Too raw?" he was asked. "Too tame," he answered. "Don't you know we're up against it to find something to shock the circus ticket buying public these days. "The time has passed when staid men would come for miles to see a girl in pink tights and call it diversion. The dead sisters have stolen our stuff so we must find something new as the public has absorbed all the shocks we can give it. "It is impossible to interest a public that has been gazing upon the styles of women by revealing an attractive human form. Diaphanous costumes have taken the kick out of the circus stuff.

"We have given up trying to get a rise out of men who are accustomed to seeing girls promenade down the boulevard with their shocking stockings rolled at the knees, by showing them girls in tights."

Norwood refused to divulge what kind of lack of costume will supplant the tights.

"I'm now studying the laws of the various states to see just far we go," he said.

WOULD HAVE HOOVER HEAD NEW BUREAU

Engineer Would Make Admirable Head for Department of Public Works.

By H. B. Hunt (Special to Post-Crescent) Washington.—Placing Herbert Hoover at the head of a new Department of Public Works to take charge of all the government's engineering and construction bureaus is advocated by Congressman C. P. Reavis.

Such a department, as Reavis designs it, would handle the government's great practical problems and exclude its political ones.

Reavis' resolution providing for a special committee from House and Senate to investigate existing departments and bureaus, and draft a reorganization program for the guidance of Congress, has passed both Houses and is not expected to draw a veto from the president.

Another Bill Pending Reavis also has introduced a bill providing that all the engineering and construction bureaus in the different departments for materials, would tend to standardize costs and promote economy and efficiency.

It has been suggested that Hoover's organizing ability might be brought to bear in assisting Congress in formulating its reorganization scheme.

93 CENTS OUT OF EVERY TAX DOLLAR IS SPENT FOR WAR

Past and Future Wars Responsible for High Cost of U. S. Government.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Washington, D. C.—Proposals looking toward a limitation of armaments are finding growing support in Congress.

For congressmen see that pledges for a reduction of expenditures and taxation cannot be met if heavy appropriations for army and navy are approved.

It jolted Congress to find that only 7 cents out of each dollar needed to pay the governments bills in 1920 went for all civil expenditures.

This has been shown by a scientific analysis made by Dr. Edward B. Rosa, chief physicist of the Bureau of Standards. Rosa's study covered the period from 1910 to 1920.

Cost of Earlier Wars Excluding world war costs, it is shown that for the period the civil expenditures of the government amounted to about $1 out of $3, the other $2 being consumed by normal appropriations for army and navy, pensions, and other expenses due to previous wars.

For 1920, however, out of $5,686,965,705 appropriated only $181,087,225.41 went for administration of civil matters. This amounts to 3.19 per cent of the total.

For public works, including river and harbor appropriations, reclamation, Alaskan railroad, public buildings, Panama canal, etc., $168,203,557.46, or 2.97 per cent, was spent.

For research, educational and development activities of the government, barely one per cent, or $57,093,660, was used.

The remaining 93.82 per cent, or $4,279,621,263.17 was eaten up by the hang-over charges from past wars and the cost of maintaining a great army and navy.

Wiser Way to Spend Rosa urges a wise expenditure in certain lines of research and development will do much more for war preparedness than immense sums spent directly on the army and navy, and at the same time will promote peace-time advancement and prosperity.

"The world war," he says, "demonstrated that modern wars are not of armies but of peoples. Their intellectual and industrial resourcefulness are more important than the initial equipment of armies and fleets.

"Therefore a government which pays much attention to education, research and industrial development work, is making the best preparation for possible wars."

"By increasing the power and prestige of the nation, such preparation tends to prevent war and so pays for itself twice over."

"CHIVO" IS CURSE OF CUBAN PEOPLE

Chivo, Cuban for "Graft," Is Popular Indoor Sport on the Island.

Havana.—"Chivo" is wrecking Cuba. "Chivo" in American is "graft."

"Chivo" is dispensed in the form of salaries for political sinecures. Politics is the influential Cuban's "bottle."

"Bottle" is Cuban for "political plum."

Many a Cuban's "bottle" is so large that it is called a "demijohn."

And a Cuban will battle for his "bottle" like a moonshiner for his still.

Far too many Cubans exist on "Chivo" from bottles.

Which is one reason why Cuba still doesn't know the result of the presidential election last Nov. 1—the first held under the electoral law framed by General E. H. Crowder, U. S. A.

Rival Claimants Dr. Alfredo Zayas of the new fusion National League claims he won.

General Jose Manuel Gomez of the Liberal party, claims he won.

Meanwhile President Menocal continues to hold the president's chair. Menocal's administration has unofficially reported Zayas as ahead in the count.

Gomez, however, is confidently awaiting the official returns.

Meanwhile the Liberal congressmen are still on strike. They walked out last summer because they were disgruntled over an attempt to amend the Crowder law.

Congress consequently can't get a quorum to act on the island's desperate situation.

Hence the moratorium declared by President Menocal.

This moratorium has resulted in stagnation of trade, with boats turning back from Cuban ports without unloading their cargoes.

Talk of intervention by the United States has been increased by the action of the Washington government in sending Gen. Crowder to Havana to confer with Menocal on straightening out the situation.

Holding a new election under Crowder's supervision, backed by marines from American warships, is being talked of as one way out.

NEW MEMBERS GO TO "CHEROKEE STRIP"

Sen. La Follette Was Last Republican to Be Seated in Enemy Land.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Washington.—The "Cherokee Strip" in the United States Senate must be revived again after March 4 in order to provide seats for the heavy Republican majority in the Upper House, swept into office by the November election.

When the majority on either side in the Senate exceeds half a dozen members or so, the custom has been to assign the newcomers to desks at the rear and side of the minority section.

These seats, in enemy territory, constitute the "Cherokee Strip," and, while occupied by members of the majority party, are the least desirable seats in the Senate chamber.

Assignment to the "Cherokee Strip" is one of the methods of disciplining a new member of Senate.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin was the last Republican to occupy a desk in the "Cherokee Strip." He was an outsider, so far as the G. O. P. organization was concerned, and he knew it. But he decided that when he did leave the "Strip" he would move into the very best seat on the Republican side—which he did.

Although the assignment has not definitely been disposed of, it is probable the newcomers assigned to the "Strip" will be:

Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho; R. P. Ernst, of Kentucky; O. E. Weller, of Maryland; Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada; E. I. Ladd, of North Dakota; R. N. Stansfield, of Oregon; R. H. Cameron, of Arizona, and Peter Norbeck, of South Dakota.

The three members likely to be accommodated on the Republican side, by transfer of seats are:

Wm. B. McKinley, of Illinois; Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, and J. W. Harrell, of Oklahoma, all former members of the House.

BOYS SET READING PACE FOR MOTHERS AND DADS

Chicago. — More books are being read than ever before, but few are selecting their reading wisely—except boys, according to delegates to the American Library Association convention.

Boys no longer read Horatio Alger, Jr., and Oliver Optic. They want treatises on autos and airplanes and technical subjects.

Sister is doing very little reading, being more interested in styles, the delegates say.

Father reads volumes on spiritism, and occult sciences while mother has taken to the fad of weird religions.

building at Moose Factory was arranged for the accommodation of the Americans and they were resting comfortably when I left for Mattice and Montreal.

"Lieut. Farrell seemed to have suffered most. He might have to ride most of the way from Moose Factory to Mattice, a trip that probably will occupy 16 or 17 days, but Hinton and Kloor will be able to accompany the dogs on foot."

Mattice, Ont.—While no word has

HARDING WANTS NEW BILL FOR EDUCATION

With the federal government so that as in the case of good roads and other projects the combined federal and state energy will make for progress. During the campaign, the effort to create a department of public welfare was friends located. It was general in character but several members of congress who want a department of education say that every part of the ten departments of the government is supposed to have for its object the public welfare and what is desired at present is a department to promote education. Here is the way Mr. Harding expressed himself during the campaign and it is declared by those who have seen him recently that he hasn't changed his view.

"Indeed, education is so intimately related to every phase of human welfare and to the sustenance of our free institutions that it must be considered of primary importance in any program for social betterment. So important is education to the life of the nation and so extensive its work that it has been proposed to establish a federal department of education and to conduct research and carry on investigation in the field of education, and to encourage and assist the states and local communities in the promotion of education. The federal government has established the precedent of promoting education. It has made liberal grants of land and money for the establishment and support of colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts, and in more recent years has made appropriations for vocational education and household arts. Without interfering in any way with the control and management of public education by the states, the federal government could extend aid to the states for the promotion of physical education, the Americanization of the foreign born, the eradication of illiteracy, the better training of teachers, and for promoting free educational opportunities for all the children of all the people.

It is declared that Mr. Harding has in mind appointing a woman to be the first secretary of a department of education but legislation will of course be necessary before the new department could be created.

City Milk

(Wisconsin Division of Markets)

City milk prices remain steady excepting for a drop of one cent per quart in the price in two different cities. In both the cities where prices to consumers were reduced, the price paid to farmers was dropped decidedly. Kenosha and Superior continue to have the highest prices but the farmers at both these places receive more for their milk than at any other cities. Milwaukee and Madison continue to have the lowest prices. The following table gives the buying and selling price of milk in a number of the leading cities of the state. There are approximately 46.5 quarts in a hundred pounds of milk.

ABANDONED AUTO STILL UNCLAIMED

Stevens Point—Miss Gladys Brown, young, pretty and stylishly dressed, motored into Stevens Point over snow covered roads in a big touring car and stopped at a local garage for repairs. Her efforts to hire a car to take her to Chicago failed. The next morning she hired a taxi to Chicago, leaving $10 for the trip, and never returned. That was three weeks ago.

Police have since been unable to locate the owner, despite a letter of instructions sent back with the taxi man and an investigation conducted at Minneapolis and Milwaukee. No one claims it and no agency can find that it has been stolen. "Miss Brown" gave a Minneapolis address in her note, stating that ownership of the machine could be established there. Letters to that address have failed to bring a reply.

She gave as her excuse for leaving hurriedly the statement that her mother was ill. Unless the owner of the car is located in due time it will be disposed of at public sale.

RAISE DUES AND PLAN EQUITY UNION REVIVAL

Madison—The Equity society has found it necessary to increase dues from $2.00 to $5 a year. The new rates went into effect Jan. 1. The last work of 1920 witnessed a heavy payment of dues at the state secretary's office in Madison on the part of members who desired to avail themselves of the old schedule of dues while there was yet time.

In practical results the state treasury will not receive a substantial benefit from the new schedule for months. To overcome this difficulty, individual members, local and county unions are lending their individual credit to the state organization in order that the work of organization may be pushed vigorously during the winter season.

The state board of directors is planning a thirty-day drive during which time every farmer in the state will be given an opportunity to join the Equity society. Fifty thousand members before the next Equity convention is the goal set.

CHARTER PLAN OPPOSED BY LA CROSSE LAWYERS

La Crosse—The La Crosse County Bar association adopted a resolution opposing the proposition to repeal all special charters for cities in Wisconsin and have municipalities operated under a general charter law. A general charter law would, they maintain, would deprive the city of the element of home rule which is given by the special charter under a general charter law. They believe a general charter law could not be drafted to control satisfactorily the various institutions and special conditions found in different cities.

AGED KENOSHA BARBER DEFIES UNION THREAT

Kenosha—The barbers' union voted to serve an ultimatum on the five non-union shops of Kenosha that they must unionize or the 100 union men will establish pickets at the non-union places. The non-union bosses declare they will pay no attention to the ultimatum.

"Let them come on with their pickets," said William Dickhaup, oldest barber in Kenosha. "I have run this place right since before most of these fellows were born, and they can't bother me."

He is 72 years old and has been a barber since he was 13. For more than forty years he has been in business in Kenosha.

WIFE ELOPES WITH PROMINENT MAN

Kenosha Has New Triangle That Baffles Police of Two States.

Kenosha—The eternal triangle bobbed up here Tuesday when it became known that Mrs. William H. Appleby, Jr., 121 South Fremont street, left her husband and two children, Elna, 5, and David, 9, and eloped with a man widely known in Kenosha society circles.

Mr. Appleby, a prominent lodge man, returned home to find the two children asleep in their beds and his wife gone. Investigation showed that she had packed all her clothes and jewelry and had shipped them to Flint, Mich.

The police traced the couple as far as Flint, but from there the trail has been lost. Mr. Appleby has invoked the aid of government agents and threatens prosecution under the Mann act.

The man in the case has been a friend of the Appleby family for several months and is known to have paid marked attention to Mrs. Appleby.

Mr. Appleby is an employee of the Nash Motors company, and is widely known in the younger married set of Kenosha.

HYGIENIC EDUCATION IS STARTED TOO LATE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Does sex education begin too late to be of real service in safeguarding young people against venereal diseases, is the question raised by the U. S. Public Health service, which disposes the subject in a communication to the Wisconsin bureau of social hygiene. The authors of the article Dr. C. C. Pierce, assistant surgeon-general, and Edgar Sydenstricker, statistician, are careful to explain that the statistics available as to the ages at which the disease is most often contracted are as yet too scanty to do more than suggest the question and cannot answer it.

These statistics, so far as they go, however, suggest that children, especially those of the class which is ordinarily considered most likely to be infected, leave school long before the age at which sex education is commonly given. The earliest incidence as shown by these records is in children at the age of 15, and in some cases as early as 12. At 23 it drops as rapidly as it rose. Attention is called to the apparent significance of the fact that the ages between 16 and 23 are those between the most usual ending of school and the beginning of married life. For the women the incidence of the diseases ranges about two years earlier than in men.

The Public Health service is now engaged in assembling and tabulating a much larger number of cases that will probably give much more definite results.

JOHN BULL PREPARES FOR SINN FEIN WAR

(Special to Post-Crescent)

London—John Bull has taken elaborate precautions to prevent Sinn Fein from "carrying the war to England."

Here are some of the defensive measures perfected:

One—A vast secret service is working in Ireland to uncover plans for Sinn Fein operations in England.

Two—The coast guard has been strengthened to keep out Sinn Fein agents.

Three—All ships, shipyards, warehouses and docks are closely watched.

Four—Downing street, where Lloyd George lives, has been shut off by a high wall with entrance by permit only.

Five—The houses of Parliament are heavily guarded by uniformed and in plain clothes officers outside and inside the buildings; loitering in the halls or lobbies is prohibited; a "strategic" telephone system has been installed; armed boats patrol the Thames river side of the buildings.

CHINAMEN RAISE OPIUM FOR THEIR OWN USE

Amoy, China—"Home brew" opium is the craze in China since the prohibition law made it impossible to buy the drug openly.

Reports received by Tan Kah Kee, prohibition official, show that opium is being planted more extensively than ever in the Tongan, Changtai and Changpo districts. Every family in these districts is said to be cultivating opium.

"It is a bad habit," said a tourist. "All a Chinaman has to do to get opium is to raise poppies. I never saw so many flower gardens in my life as have sprung up lately."

MEDIC SCHOOL TO BE LEADER IN U. S.

Construction of Badger Hospital at Madison Is Well Under Way.

Madison—The proposed Wisconsin Medical school, which is expected to rank with the best of the country when completed, will require little attention from the 1921 legislature, Dean C. R. Bardeen said in outlining plans. Only gradual extensions in the clinical faculty are to be made during the next two years, until the state hospital, provided for by the special session of the legislature last June, can be finished.

The university now teaches two years of medicine. A full four-year course is planned with the third year taught for the first time in 1923. At that time the legislature will be called on to provide for a larger faculty and better training facilities.

Construction of the hospital has already commenced. The basement is practically dug and actual work on the building will begin in spring.

The Wisconsin medical school intends to inaugurate a new method of teaching, which Dean Bardeen expects will be less expensive to the state, and more effective in training students. Under this plan students will devote a large part of their last two years to practice training in various state hospitals. Here they will receive instructions by doctors and do practical work, receiving board and room in return. Physicians in these hospitals would be considered on the instructional staff of the school and would receive a nominal salary from the state.

The university plans to graduate

FAILS IN HUNT FOR GOLD BUT INHERITS FORTUNE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Helena, Mont.—Frank Lamy, prospector, has struck it rich after 20 years' pursuit of fortune in the hills and mining camps of Montana.

But the strike is through no efforts of his own.

He has fallen heir to a $50,000 estate in Michigan, left to him by a brother.

Fifteen years ago Lamy tried to interest this brother in the mining of this tract of land. Laurent couldn't see the plan and the boys split up. Frank coming to Montana.

Laurent died two years ago.

Lawyers took up the search for Frank. An advertisement in Montana papers located him.

Lamy is going to Michigan with the intention of putting his plan of prospecting his brother's land, which fell through 15 years ago, into effect.

MORGAN GETS AN EARLY START ON HIS NEW JOB

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Attorney General William J. Morgan was the first state official at his desk Tuesday morning and he started in immediately getting acquainted with the work that is on hand. Monday, following the administering of the oath of his office by Chief Justice Siebocker, was spent with a public reception in the afternoon and the inaugural ball in the evening, but he went to work Tuesday morning and says he will be found in his office before, during and after office hours when there is work to do.

The new Attorney General has called for a report from each of his assistants on the status of all pending cases and will familiarize himself with each of them as he plans to do his share of the work at all times.

"There is only one change I should like to make in the department," he said Tuesday afternoon. "I should like to see the assistants to the attorney general receive salaries which would be more like what they could earn in private practice. There is not one of them but who could double his income in private practice in no time, which means all are making a personal sacrifice on behalf of the state, and they are worth more to the state all the time by their experience in the department."

AIR MAIL SERVICE GOES ON DESPITE ACCIDENTS

La Crosse—United States mail plane No. 121, in the Chicago-La Crosse-Twin City air mail service, which was badly damaged, is being repaired and will soon be in service again. The plane, which was wrecked at Marshfield, opposite Winona, was junked. Despite numerous accidents, planes are flying regularly over this route, stopping here every day for oil, gasoline and water, adding in either direction.

FARMERS CONTROL BADGER ASSEMBLY

Lively Contest for Speakership Is Expected as Legislature Opens.

Madison—The next scene on the political horizon in Wisconsin is the contest over speakership of the assembly, when the legislature convenes here a week from Wednesday. The caucus next Tuesday will settle the speakership contest, however. Both houses of the legislature here are overwhelmingly republican and the majority vote of the caucuses will determine who will hold the different legislative offices during the session.

Four Seek Place.

There are four candidates for speaker, Assemblyman Riley Young, Walworth county, has perhaps the largest following. A careful canvas has been made by Wallace Ingals, Racine. William Olson, Iowa county, who served in the last session of the legislature, has backing of a number of republicans. Frank Hanson, Juneau county, a former state senator, claims to have the backing of a number of people in his community. Much depends on the stand taken by the Milwaukeean delegation. It is understood that the Milwaukee delegation intends to vote as a unit and should the vote be counted against Mr. Young the contest will be close.

There seems to be a foregone conclusion that there will be no opposition to E. C. Shafer. He has served five consecutive sessions of the legislature as chief clerk and no one has appeared thus far to oppose him. There are several candidates for sergeant-at-arms, among them being Harry Hewitt, Clark county, and T. G. Greaney, Dane county.

The senate will be presided over by

ENGLAND WILL MAKE ARMOR FOR JAPANESE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

London—Vickers, Ltd., one of the two great armament makers of England, is looking forward to large orders for armor plate from Japan during the coming year.

The British government has intimated to Vickers that it wishes the corporation to maintain its armor plant "for eventual use."

These statements were made at a meeting of Vickers stockholders by Douglas Vickers. He is a member of Parliament.

Vickers pointed out that maintenance of the armor plate plant which can't be used for peace purposes, is very expensive and intimated the government should help the company bear the burden.

SELL 2,000 ACRES OF COUDERAY INDIAN LAND

Coudery, Wis.—The Indian department reports that the sale of 2,000 acres of reservation land on the Coudery Indian reservation held this week was a successful sale, lands going for the appraised value or more.

The bids were sent in from several states, but time was short for personal examination of the lands being made.

This is all heirship lands that the government is selling as soon as the heirs are determined upon.

Another sale expected to be held in the spring will be larger and at a time when there will be no snow on the ground, so prospective bidders can look over the lands before bidding.

Land companies are very anxious to buy this land at the government appraisal values and hold it for high or prices.

MOTHER TELLS OF FINE RESULTS

Mrs. Dilges And Her Two Daughters Gain Health By Taking Tanlac

"I tried Tanlac first myself and was so well pleased with it that I gave it to my children and the results are simply wonderful," declared Mrs. Marie Dilges, of 711 Winnebago Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"Before I took Tanlac my nerves just seemed to have collapsed completely. My indigestion was poor, I had sharp pains in my chest and around my heart and there was a constant burning in my stomach. My kidneys were badly disordered and I had a constant pain across my back. I was so weak and thin that I could hardly take care of my children.

"But Tanlac restored my perfect health. I gained ten pounds and have been in splendid health ever since. When my two children began to complain a short time ago I decided to give them Tanlac. Florence was very nervous and run-down and had lost her appetite. She slept poorly and didn't seem to have any strength or energy.

"But Tanlac proved to be just what she needed and today she looks better and stronger and is eating and sleeping just like a healthy child.

"My little eight year old girl was not feeling well either, so I gave her Tanlac and it helped her just like it did her sister."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt, F. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Shute.

MANITOWOC FIRM TO BUILD SANDSUCKER

Manitowoc—The Manitowoc Shipbuilding corporation has just landed a contract from the American Sand & Gravel company, Chicago, for a 212 foot steel sand sucker. Coincidentally with the awarding of the contract announcement was made of the consolidation of the Hydraulic Sand Transit Co., and the American Sand & Gravel Co., in both of which companies local capital is interested. The Hydro, the same type of boat, was built here several years ago by the Shipbuilding company.

The local yards have a big program of repair work, which will keep a force of close to 1,500 men at work throughout the winter.

Manitowoc—Capt. Dueno of the local police force was quietly engaged in shaving himself at the station this noon. Suddenly the electric burglar alarm, from a local bank went off with a bang. Dueno, with half of his face clean shaven, and with lather streaming down the other, moved rapidly down the street to the bank. He found no burglars but the cashier had accidentally pressed the electric button which summons the police. Dueno resumed shaving after his return.

E. church with interment at Forest Hill, and the Gorry funeral took place at 2:30 p. m., at St. Raphael's church, with the Rev. Father T. E. Johnson officiating. Interment was at Calvary.

The firing squads for the funerals of Oakley and Gorry were furnished Sergeant William G. Gerke, was buried Saturday afternoon at Forest by the governor's guards.

One other of Madison's soldier dead, Hill, Services were conducted at Pilgrim Congregational church by the Rev. E. F. Bell. A firing squad was at the grave.

IMPURE CEMENT IS SOLD IN STATE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Contractors and builders were warned by the industrial commission to beware of fraudulent substitution of natural cement for Portland cement, many instances of which have recently come to the notice of the commission. Samples of concrete collected by the commission and tested by the university testing laboratory have shown that material labeled and sold as Portland cement was an inferior product, being either natural cement or Portland cement mixed with lime and other cheap filler to make bulk.

The state building code requires only approved Portland cement shall be used in making concrete in all buildings, except private residences and farm buildings. Natural cement and other products containing an excess of lime disintegrate the concrete and should not be used under any circumstances. Builders and owners are warned never to accept natural cement or something else "just as good" as Portland cement, because only Portland cement meets the requirements of the building code and stands the test of time.

The commission suggests that if suspicious looking or acting cement is received it should be sent to some reliable testing laboratory, such as the R. W. Hunt Company of Chicago, or the Engineering Testing Laboratory, College of Engineering, Madison. For purposes of such tests samples of the cement should be submitted in well-sealed tin cans containing a quart or more of the material.

WIFE ELOPES WITH PROMINENT MAN

Kenosha Has New Triangle That Baffles Police of Two States.

Kenosha—The eternal triangle bobbed up here Tuesday when it became known that Mrs. William H. Appleby, Jr., 121 South Fremont street, left her husband and two children, Elna, 5, and David, 9, and eloped with a man widely known in Kenosha society circles.

Mr. Appleby, a prominent lodge man, returned home to find the two children asleep in their beds and his wife gone. Investigation showed that she had packed all her clothes and jewelry and had shipped them to Flint, Mich.

The police traced the couple as far as Flint, but from there the trail has been lost. Mr. Appleby has invoked the aid of government agents and threatens prosecution under the Mann act.

The man in the case has been a friend of the Appleby family for several months and is known to have paid marked attention to Mrs. Appleby.

Mr. Appleby is an employee of the Nash Motors company, and is widely known in the younger married set of Kenosha.

Short Passing Game Wins Basket Titles

Madison, Wis.—There isn't ten in goals from the head and in scoring power.

Scoring Power—That's the point at which Coach Meanwell drives his wedge. The defensive play of his five has been nothing remarkable.

The Badger coach possesses a strong personality. He has the knack to instill it into his players. Meanwell dipped into the coaching mine while he was attending the University of Maryland. He also captained a professional team.

He came to Wisconsin in 1912 where he assumed the study of coaching basketball while he continued his study of medicine.

Cuts the Buck—His five won the Big Ten conference championship in 1912-13-14 and 16. He switched to the University of Missouri in 1917 and capped a basketball title for them the first year. During 1918 he was in the military service, returning to Missouri in 1919 when he turned out another winner.

Now back at Madison where he is practicing medicine as well as building another championship Badger five.

And every Wisconsin student feels certain that he will cut the buck—put this year, perhaps—but next year.

COACH MEANWELL

ZOLL'S "MODESTY" ROUSES HILL'S IRE

Blushing Carl May Not Find Appleton Man the Soft Pudding He Expects.

Modest Carl Zoll, who regards his wrestling match with George Hill here next Thursday night as a mere stepping stone to great success, may find about 185 pounds of muscles and sinews blocking his path to the dizzy heights of championship. Carl is a nice boy but his record apparently has gone to his head. He never was a blushing violet and he didn't add much to his reputation as the season of modesty when he proclaimed to all and sundry that Hill will be the easiest kind of meat for him.

Hill is an easy going chap until he is stirred up and he is some stirred up. That letter to Elmer Johnston, promoter, accepting terms for the fight brushed George's fur in the wrong direction and he is eager for the go. It will be a mighty fine scrap while it lasts.

"You tell the fans for me if I don't throw Zoll they won't be home in time for breakfast. If I don't win Zoll won't either, you can take it from me."

Hill is making rather severe sacrifices to meet the Green Bay man. He will get mighty little financial return but is willing to work for almost nothing to get a crack at the heavy-weight.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate one of the largest crowds which has ever witnessed a wrestling match in the state.

SUPPORT MOVE TO CUT FIGHT PRICES

Boxing Commissions of Many States Indorse Start Made in New York.

By Henry L. Farrell

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Legal separation of high finance and boxing, started in New York, promises to spread into every state where the ring game is permitted.

Even if no national board of super-cassiers could be organized, the state boxing officials here next week, it seems from a poll taken by the United Press, that the day of a purse of six figures for a two figure period of work is passed.

"The action of the New York commission in limiting the price of seats was timely and should meet with approval everywhere," Director Corti, in charge of boxing in Philadelphia, said.

We believe boxing commissions should control prices in order to check promoters and protect the public. The amounts fixed should be left to individual commissions to decide on local conditions," said L. H. Lightcap, chairman of the Ohio boxing commission.

"We fix prices in this state and find it a practical policy."

"We insist upon several hundred one dollar seats. We have never set a limit on seats but the highest price ever charged has been $10. We have repeatedly asked the promoters to reduce prices to benefit the real fans who cannot pay high prices. The promoters benefit in the long run as they always have capacity houses," the Wisconsin commission said.

On the Pacific coast a fight is being staged by the newspapers against extortion.

Tex Rickard, New York promoter, will be affected more than anyone else by the edict. Says he is heartily in favor of the ruling as it will force the boxers to become reasonable.

HILL IS HELPING COLLEGE MAT MEN

Blue and White Squad Fears Kimberly Is Preparing to Spring Surprise.

George Hill, the Appleton heavy-weight, who has been meeting and defeating all comers, began helping Coach Atkinson to get the Lawrence wrestlers in shape for the Kimberly meet next Wednesday night. The big man tore into the entire squad and gave the men one of the hardest workouts of the season. The Lawrentians are preparing for the big surprise which the mill men have been promising to spring and outside of a few minor injuries, are fast rounding into shape for the meet.

The heavy-weight bout between Sam Mantia, Kimberly strong man, and Lloyd Biddick of the college team promises to be the most exciting. Mantia has adopted the wrestling tactics of Strangler Lewis, being especially strong with the headlock as used by the present world's champion. Biddick, on the other hand, does not depend so much upon any one particular hold but is especially strong with the head scissors.

TRADE SCHOOL SECONDS WIN FROM KAUKAUNA

The Vocational school basketball team defeated the second team of the Kaukauna Fox Club, 15 to 13 at Kaukauna Thursday evening. The line-up was as follows:

Vocational school—Kenz, center; Christianson and Turkow, forwards; Reetz and Heider, guards; Alenzander and Delfosse, substitutes.

Kaukauna—Hess, center; Spindler and Homer, guards; Ott and Perry, forwards; Ludke and Chapman, substitutes.

A return game will be played in Appleton in about two weeks. The local eagles will play Little Chute at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, Friday evening.

BACON GETTERS GET THE BACON AT LITTLE CHUTE

The Bacon Getters bowling team of the Arcade alleys defeated the Little Chute Stars of the Little Chute league on the latter's alleys Wednesday night 7:31 to 2:54. The Bacon Getters won two out of the three games.

FIGHT TICKET AUCTION DOESN'T MAKE A HIT

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Denny Leonard and Noble Mitchell, with a $60,000 split between them, will get more than "devastated France" out of the "benefit" lightweight championship fight here Jan. 14, from the interest shown at the auction of seats here last night. Less than $5,000 was received from the sale conducted by Marie Dressler, Burr McIntosh and Charles Judels.

Leonard bought four seats for $1,000 and Mitchell bought two for $900.

THE PURITAN BAKERY

BREAD THAT'S REAL BREAD

MANY a woman knows how to make good Bread, but she hasn't the scientific ovens that control the proper heat. She cannot bake as economically as we do because she cannot buy the good materials as cheaply. Under those conditions does it pay you to labor over a heated oven? We want you to try our Bread. That will convince you of its superiority.

Neuralgic Pains

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe, simple and effective treatment for both headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it eases the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief. Keep a supply on hand.

Wizard Oil is a good dependable preparation to have in the medicine chest for first aid when the doctor may be far away. Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon as a preventive against infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

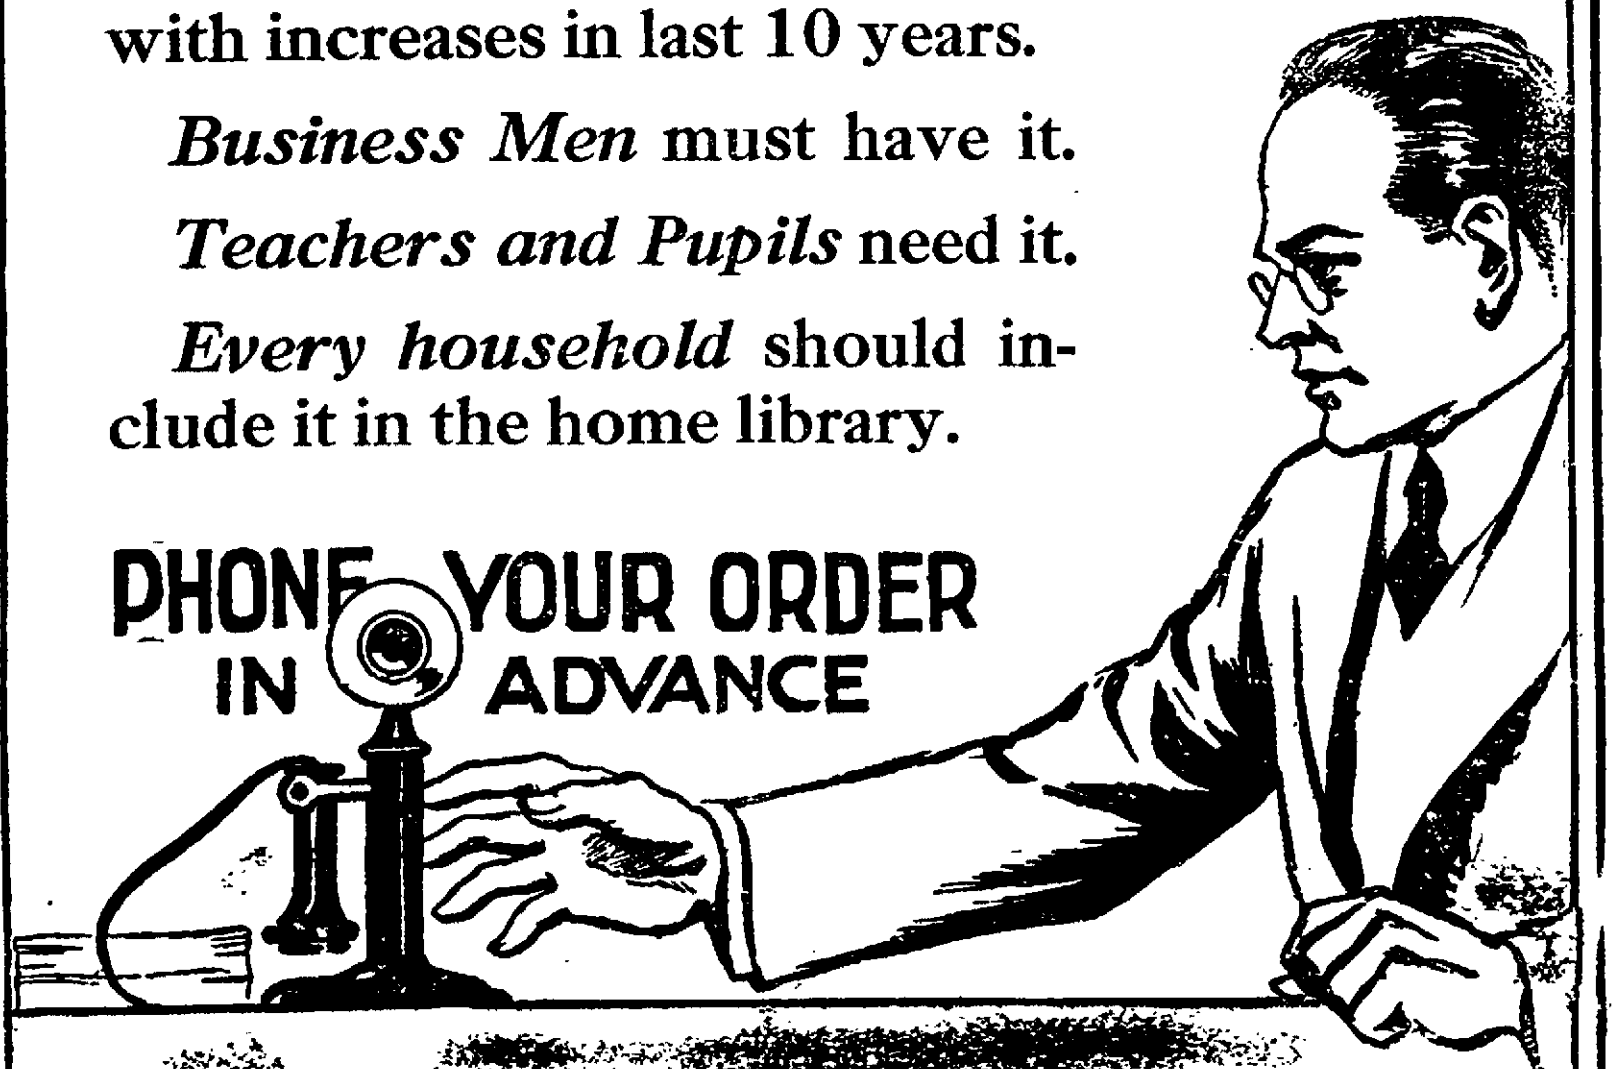

If you are troubled with constipation or sick headache try Hamlin's Wizard Liver Whip. Just pleasant little pink pills at druggists for 30c.

A good old-fashioned Rummage Sale—helpful, comprehensive, genuine. With it goes the added value born of the times that gives this Rummage Sale an importance no other Rummage Sale has ever approximated.

The old year took away, forever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months, conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest WINTER RUMMAGE SALE.

The results came in two ways: 1st, the drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it.

2nd: We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far-sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible for the next six months at least.

You will be amazed when you see the splendid assortments of Rummage Goods in every department of the store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom where it is a pleasure to buy things.

Many manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES.

We shall forego a large part of our profits on the new goods, and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the new conditions with

The Most Stirring Rummage Price-Upset That this Community Has Ever Known!

No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page but scores of others are here that can get no mention today. See tomorrow's paper for further items.
